ALABAMA PRESIDENT DR. STUART R. BELL

Dr. Stuart R. Bell became the 29th president of The University of Alabama in July 2015, bringing with him 30 years of experience in higher education. He had previously served at the Capstone for 16 years as a faculty member and department head of mechanical engineering. During this time, he also founded and directed an interdisciplinary research center, the Center for Advanced Vehicle Technologies, which continues to thrive today.

Since his return to the Capstone, Dr. Bell has led the University to develop a strategic plan that maps out the aspirations of the campus for the next five years and beyond. Renewing UA's commitment to its students and the campus community, and with a focus on significantly increasing investments in faculty and research, the plan promises to improve the quality of life for citizens across our state, nation and world. Already, several of the plan's initiatives are underway, with multiple research institutes formed on campus, creating an interdisciplinary approach to address national and worldwide challenges in the areas of water, transportation and lifespan research.

Prior to returning to UA as president, Dr. Bell was executive vice president and provost at Louisiana State University. Before his time at LSU, he served the University of Kansas as dean of the School of Engineering. Under his leadership, both institutions opened new facilities and saw great success in student recruitment and retention.

An Abilene, Texas, native, Dr. Bell earned a nuclear engineering degree from Texas A&M University in 1979. He earned his master's degree and doctorate in mechanical engineering from the same university in 1981 and 1986, respectively.

It was also at Texas A&M that he met and fell in love with his wife, Susan. They have three adult children, Stuart, Stacy and Stephen, and they are the proud grandparents to one granddaughter.

GREG BYRNE

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

One of the most acclaimed and respected administrators in collegiate athletics, Greg Byrne was formally introduced as The University of Alabama's Director of Athletics on January 19, 2017, and officially began his tenure leading the department on March 1.

Byrne's role at Alabama is his third venture at the helm of a major collegiate athletics program. Prior to coming to Alabama, Byrne was Vice President for Athletics at the University of Arizona from 2010-17 and was Director of Athletics at Mississippi State University from 2008-10. With more than 20 years of experience as an athletics administrator, Byrne has fashioned an impressive administrative career hallmarked by consistent success in fundraising, innovative strategies and competitive success with a strong emphasis on academic excellence.

Throughout his career, Byrne has been consistently more impactful and successful with each step up the administrative ladder. As a fundraiser, he has been directly involved in raising more than $200 million in gifts during his career. As a leader of competitive athletics programs, he has fostered major improvements across the spectrum of sports at both programs he has led. A proponent of developing student-athletes into productive people after college, Byrne has led programs that have attained academic success at levels not reached prior to his tenure.

He also has deep experience working in the Southeastern Conference (SEC), having spent 2002 to 2005 at the University of Kentucky as Associate Athletics Director for Development and Fundraising before a four-year stint at Mississippi State (2006-10). From 2006-08, Byrne served as Associate Athletics Director for External Affairs at MSU before becoming Director of Athletics.

Under Byrne's leadership, Arizona Athletics underwent more than $140 million in construction and renovation of athletics facilities. That work was highlighted by the $72 million Lowell-Stevens Football Facility, the addition of two video boards in Arizona Stadium (football), and a new scoreboard in the McKale Center (basketball). Additionally, Byrne oversaw a $30 million renovation of the McKale Center, a project that included upgraded locker rooms, seating, restrooms, concessions, enhanced lighting and a new playing floor.

At Mississippi State, where he was the youngest athletics director in the SEC and the youngest to lead an athletic program at the NCAA Division I-A level, Byrne oversaw the hiring of head football coach Dan Mullen and former head baseball coach and current Director of Athletics John Cohen.

As the son of veteran athletics administrator Bill Byrne, one of the nation's most prominent college sports administrators with 30 years of experience as an Athletics Director, Greg Byrne has been around the enterprise of running successful athletic programs for most of his life.

A native of Pocatello, Idaho, Byrne earned his bachelor's degree from Arizona State University in 1994 and his master's degree from Mississippi State University in 2009. Byrne is married to the former Regina Misa of Junction City, Ore., and the couple has two sons, Nick and Davis.

ATHLETICS LEADERSHIP

THIS IS ALABAMA GYMNASTICS

A Tradition of Excellence, A Legacy of Champions

ALABAMA GYMNASTICS

At the collegiate level, gymnastics is a team sport. No one student-athlete can do it on their own. That's one of things that appeals most to the type of gymnast that comes to Alabama, the chance to be a part of something larger than themselves. At the same time, the Crimson Tide coaching staff of Dana Duckworth, Bryan Raschilla and Bill Lorenz are committed to helping each gymnast become the best version of themselves, both in the gym, the classroom and the world outside of both. That philosophy of developing the whole person is long entrenched in the fiber of Alabama gymnastics. It is what has allowed the Crimson Tide to advance to the NCAA Championships each of the last 35 years, winning six and advancing to an NCAA-best 23 Super Six Team Finals and posting an NCAA-best 23 top-three national finishes. It's also why Alabama leads all gymnastics programs in several national academic honors, including seven NCAA Elite 90 Awards, and earning an amazing 20 NCAA Postgraduate Scholarships.

LIVING THE LEGACY

of personal excellence within a team bond, built on a family dynamic is why Crimson Tide gymnastics stands among the very best collegiate programs in the nation. It's also why Alabama gymnasts go on to lead lives of distinction following graduation. They not only become outstanding doctors and lawyers, accountants and teachers, mothers and coaches, but they also become vital members of their communities, continuing to give back to those around them. Alabama gymnastics celebrates its accomplishments - individual and team - with a tremendous amount of pride, knowing that everything that has been accomplished the right way,

WITH DIGNITY AND CLASS.

A VERY CROWDED HOUSE: ALABAMA GYMNASTICS FANS

For Alabama gymnasts, competing at home is electrifying. Marching into Coleman Coliseum, hearing their names called one by one as 13,000-plus fans roar their approval – it is an experience like no other.

“There’s nothing like competing in Coleman Coliseum,” head coach Dana Duckworth said. “The experience is absolutely exhilarating and it brings out the very best in our ladies.”

If anyone knows the kind of boost that the atmosphere surrounding an Alabama home meet can provide, it is Duckworth. As a gymnast, she helped Alabama win its second NCAA Championship in Coleman Coliseum in 1991 and as a coach, she has been on the floor for some of the biggest and most fan-packed meets in Alabama history.

“Our fans are simply amazing,” Duckworth said. “They are without a doubt our biggest and baddest competitive advantage.”

The Tide averaged 12,152 fans during the 2017 season, marking the 14th year in a row that the Tide has averaged more than 10,000 fans per meet – a stretch that includes a school and SEC record 13,786 fans per meet in 2010. In 2006, Alabama set a school and Southeastern Conference single-meet record of 15,162.

CHAMPIONS

ALABAMA GYMNASTICS FACILITIES

BUILT BY BAMA

Whether for practice, for competition or for the time in between, the Alabama gymnastics program utilizes some of the finest athletics facilities in the nation and those facilities continue to get better all the time.

THE FRANCES SMITH PRACTICE FACILITY

Long one of the most well-designed and spacious training gyms in the nation, the Frances Smith Gymnastics Practice Facility was revitalized during the summer of 2012, giving it a new look that included all new crimson matting among other amenities.

"Our facilities – from our practice gym and arena to the state of the art training and academic centers – are second to none," head coach Dana Duckworth said. "They allow us to train at a championship level every day."

The new look includes reminders of the Crimson Tide's rich championship heritage, highlighted by larger-than-life murals of the Tide's 2012 NCAA Championship team and the 2015 Southeastern Conference championship team, as well as several Alabama legends.

"This is just another area where Bryan Raschilla's gift for graphic design has made a huge difference for our program, adding to the championship feel of our facility," Duckworth said.

The hallway that leads from the gym also features seven images that are highlighted by words that define Crimson Tide gymnastics tradition of excellence.

"When our ladies walk down the hallway and into the gym, they are reminded all the time of the ideals that built this program into what it is today – tradition, family, excellence, heart, service, champions and leadership," Duckworth said. "You can't help but be inspired to do your best to uphold that tradition of excellence and legacy of champions."

The Tide's team suite also received upgrades during 2012, including new hot and cold therapy tubs in the gymnastics training room which has been extremely beneficial in terms of preparation and recovery when it comes to both practice and competition.

All aspects of the complex come together in a marriage of form and function that gives Alabama a training edge. Countless hours went into designing the 12,500 square-foot gym, creating a facility that is both beautiful, but designed to minimize and alleviate the impact of training on the gymnasts' bodies.

Multiple soft landing pits are available for all four apparatus, giving the Tide the freedom to train skills in enhanced safety. That setup also gives Alabama the capability of teaching a variety of skills at the same time.

The main practice area includes an in-ground trampoline and tumbling strips. The sound system that drives the Tide's practices surrounds the floor exercise area with the same level of sound

Alabama will encounter in a meet setting.

The practice gym also includes a state-of-the-art video analysis system, provided by the Tide's booster organization, The Medalist Club.

The system has several playback and analysis options that are in use every day in practice, allowing the coaches to provide instant feedback on a routine. Having three complete systems in the gym running at all times allows the coaches and gymnasts constant analysis. The system also helps compress the time it takes to make a change to a skill or routine, allowing the gymnasts to get more out of each practice.

In addition to a variety of playback options, the coaches can also compare and contrast routines using a variety of tools within the Dartfish Pro software.

"If we really want to get in-depth and break down technique and skills, we can use the system's SimulCam and StroMotion features which were both used at the Olympic Games," Raschilla said.

The equipment is arranged to make the flow of practice extremely fluid. There are five uneven bars stations, six balance beams, two vaults and an oversized floor in place.

A separate 2,000 square-foot strength and conditioning/dance studio is connected to the main practice area and includes the Tide's cardio equipment.

Prior to the 2016 season, Alabama added a Pilates studio to its training suite. Located next to the Tide's strength and conditioning/dance studio, the studio contains top of the line Pilates equipment and is designed to help the Crimson Tide to be its very best. The Pilates studio was also funded by The Medalist Club (www.GymTide.com).

"We're excited to have this addition to our facility," Duckworth said. "To be able to integrate Pilates into our routine and to have the equipment right next to our practice gym is a huge bonus for our ladies. We are so grateful to The Medalist Club for continually providing our program with everything we need to be the very best we can be."

In addition to a fully equipped training room, the Tide's team suite includes the locker room as well as a team room that includes study and computer stations and a meeting space.

"I love the fact that our ladies have everything they need all in one place for both practice and meets," Duckworth said.

COLEMAN COLISEUM

There are few atmospheres better in collegiate athletics than a gymnastics Friday night in Coleman Coliseum – from the roar of the crowd when Alabama marches in through the last routine. That atmosphere has only improved over the past several years, following major upgrades to the main arena of Coleman Coliseum aimed at enhancing the meet-day atmosphere. The new amenities feature an array of state-of-the-art video boards, including a center-hung display that features four massive, high-definition video panels flanked by two video rings. The center display is accompanied by a pair of video and stat displays on each end of the facility.

The latest enhancements also include more floor seating for the fans, bringing the crowd closer than ever to the action.

Coleman Coliseum saw its greatest transformation prior to the 2006 season, when the entire facility was updated in grand fashion. Behind a bold modernized facade, the interior lobbies and concourses were expanded and upgraded. In the main seating area, 15,000-plus seats, all theater style, welcome gymnastics crowds along with a 6,400 square-foot club area along the east side of the arena.

All these amenities enhance Coleman Coliseum's reputation as one of the best places in the nation to watch gymnastics. Since the gymnastics team began competing in the Coliseum in the late 1980s, Alabama has hosted some of the biggest gymnastics meets in the country, including the 1991, 1996 and 2002 NCAA championships and the 1988, 1993 and 1999 SEC Championships. The Tide will host its 15th NCAA Regional Championship in the spring of 2018.

The Coliseum also houses the gymnastics coaches' office suite, which was renovated during the summer of 2012 to highlight a championship legacy that includes six national championships, nine SEC titles as well as countless individual accolades. In addition to the coaches and staff offices, the suite includes a conference room and a workout room.

The overall renovation to the Tide's athletic facilities, which entailed a more than $200 million capital building campaign, also included a new strength and conditioning center and an athletic training center that is among the nation's very best. Both facilities are located in the Mal Moore Athletic Facility, adjacent to Coleman Coliseum.

Another aspect of the athletics department's building campaign over the past decade that has paid huge dividends is the Bill Battle Academic Center at Paul W. Bryant Hall, one of the finest academic centers in the nation, which opened in 2005 (for more on Bryant Hall, see page 14).

CLASSROOM SUCCESS

The University of Alabama is one of the nation's top scholastic institutions and the Crimson Tide gymnastics program is among those leading the charge of academic excellence, earning countless honors and continually producing outstanding results in the classroom.

The Tide's tremendous success is in direct correlation to the level of importance the coaching staff puts on academics. Priority one at Alabama is a great education that will catapult Tide gymnasts into exciting futures.

"There is no doubt that when it comes to Crimson Tide gymnastics, academics is priority one," head coach Dana Duckworth said. "I'm a living example of what an Alabama education can do for you. That's why we want every Alabama gymnast to leave the Capstone with a championship ring on one hand and a diploma in the other, confident in the knowledge that an Alabama education will take you anywhere you want to go."

The emphasis the coaching staff puts on academics has paid huge dividends. On its way to winning back-to-back NCAA championships in 2011 and 2012, Alabama posted two of its highest team grade point averages in school history, a school record 3.71 in 2011 and a 3.55 in 2012. Over that two-year span, Alabama gymnasts earned 27 Scholastic All-America honors while every member of the team posted over a 3.1 GPA.

The Tide's academic prowess is nothing new. Alabama gymnasts have earned 20 NCAA and 12 Southeastern Conference postgraduate scholarships since 1983, with both totals leading all gymnastics programs on the national and conference levels.

Additionally, three Alabama gymnasts — Julie Estin, Meredith Willard and Kristin Sterner — were all named the H. Boyd McWhorter Scholar Athlete of the Year, the SEC's most coveted academic honor. The McWhorter is bestowed on the conference's top senior student-athlete, regardless of sport, and carries with it a $15,000 scholarship that can be applied to the graduate program of the recipient's choice.

While the Tide has built a sparkling reputation in the academic arena, it is not just a case of letting a squad of naturally academically-talented athletes loose in the classroom.

"The success our ladies have enjoyed academically has been predicated on the same drive and dedication that makes them successful in the gym," Duckworth said. "I'm proud of the fact that our gymnasts combine the amazing resources the University and athletics department puts at their disposal with a tremendous amount of hard work to excel to the best of their abilities."

In fact, some of Alabama's greatest success stories involve student-athletes that came in as at-risk students. Through a combination of their own hard work, unflagging support from the coaching staff and the resources Alabama puts at their disposal, they were able to graduate. They then went on to careers that might not have been possible without the education they received at the Capstone.

Once a prospective student-athlete signs, it is up to her how successful she is academically. But because of Alabama's Bill Battle Academic Center (BBAC) and the commitment of its coaches, every opportunity for success is there for the taking.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

Alabama gymnastics' academic excellence has maintained an impressive stride over the past 40 years, providing some truly awe-inspiring results.

- In 2017, Alabama gymnasts posted a 3.6 team grade point average on the way to its 35th-consecutive NCAA Championship berth.
- The Crimson Tide once again produced the highest team grade point average among Southeastern Conference gymnastics teams and had the highest team GPA among the 2017 NCAA Super Six squads.
- The 2016-17 academic year marked the 12th year in a row UA gymnasts posted a team GPA of 3.4 or better.
- Keely McNeer earned Alabama gymnastics' 20th NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship in 2017, giving the Tide the most of any gymnastics program in the nation.
- Of the 24 collegiate gymnasts who have earned NCAA Postgraduate Scholarships between 2011-17, eight are from Alabama. No other gymnastics program has more than two.
- Keely McNeer and Mackenzie Brannan both earned a place on the CoSIDA Academic All-American At-Large First Team in 2017, giving Alabama 22 Academic All-America honors in all.
- When a school-record 19 Alabama gymnasts earned Scholastic All-America honors in 2017, it boosted the Crimson Tide's all-time total to 245 since the award's inception in 1991, giving Alabama an average of more than dozen honors a year over the past 15 years.
- Alabama gymnasts have been voted the SEC Gymnastics Scholar-Athlete of the Year six times in the 14-year history of the award, including Lauren Beers (2016), Kim Jacob (2012, 2013 and 2014), Kayla Hoffman (2011) and Michelle Reeser (2005).
- Alabama set a single-season program and SEC record when 18 gymnasts earned a place on the 2016 SEC Academic Honor Roll, a tally it matched in 2017 boosting Alabama's tally to 328 since the award was first given out in 1984, more than two dozen better than the rest of the league.
- In 2016, Lauren Beers became the first gymnast to earn the NCAA Elite 90 Award three years in a row, making Alabama gymnastics a perfect seven-for-seven to that point in the honor that came into being in 2010.
- Lauren Beers earned a place on the CoSIDA Academic All-America At-Large team for the third year in a row in 2016, becoming the first UA gymnast since Kassi Price to earn the prestigious honor three times.
- Lauren Beers became the fourth UA gymnast to be named the CoSIDA At-Large Team Academic All-American of the Year.
- Kim Jacob was named the 2014 CoSIDA Academic All-America of the Year, given annually to the NCAA Division I scholar-athlete of the year.
- 12 Crimson Tide gymnasts have earned SEC Postgraduate Scholarships, more than any other gymnastics program in the SEC.
- The Crimson Tide has been especially sharp in its NCAA Championship seasons — posting a 3.5 or better team GPA in 2012, 2011, 2002 and 1988 and above a 3.0 in all six national championship years.
- Three Alabama gymnasts, Kristin Sterner, Meredith Willard and Julie Estin, have earned the H. Boyd McWhorter SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year, presented annually to the top student in the league.
- Alabama has averaged over a 3.0 team GPA for the past 20-plus years in a row.

THE BILL BATTLE ACADEMIC CENTER

The Bill Battle Academic Center (BBAC) is a mainstay of The University of Alabama's academic success.

The Crimson Tide's academic home, the Bill Battle Academic Center at Paul W. Bryant Hall, is the crown jewel in Alabama's $125-plus million Crimson Tradition building initiative. The center was named for Bill Battle several years before his being named as the Crimson Tide's Director of Athletics in the spring of 2013.

"Academic success is the life's blood of what we do here at The University of Alabama and our academic center is second to none in providing our student-athletes with the tools they need to obtain that success," Battle, who retired as Alabama's Director of Athletics in 2017, said. "I couldn't be prouder to have my name associated with those efforts."

Through the auspices of the Crimson Tradition Fund, Alabama took its former athletic dorm and converted it into a state-of-the-art facility that benefits all 500-plus Crimson Tide student-athletes.

"The Bill Battle Academic Center is an incredible facility for our student-athletes," Heather Anders, the Assistant Director for Student Services and gymnastics academic advisor said. "We provide the resources to help them be better students and be successful in the classroom, as well as preparing them to be successful in life after athletics."

The BBAC demonstrates a high level of commitment to academics by The University of Alabama and its athletics department. With over 52,000 square feet, a student-athlete can meet with their advisor, work with a tutor, attend their orientation class, use the math or computer labs, and visit the Career and Leadership Development Center – all within Bryant Hall – which is a tremendous asset for them and their busy schedules.

Among the building's many amenities is a 48-seat computer lab with up-to-date equipment and software, a math lab, as well as individual study rooms. The athletic academic advisor offices are also housed in the building, along with two 50-seat classrooms, a 140-seat classroom, a study lounge and the Susan and Gaylon McCollough A-Club Career and Leadership Development Center.

The classrooms utilize cutting-edge teaching devices, including digital overhead projectors, and throughout the building there are information stations that provide student-athletes with news. The building also houses the Tide's Academic Hall of Fame honoring Academic All Americans and recipients of the Paul W. Bryant Student-Athlete Award.

BBAC is headed by Senior Associate Athletics Director for Student Services Jon Dever. In addition to Anders, Dever is assisted by Assistant Director for Athletic Student Services Molly Dowd and Assistant Athletics Director for Student-Athlete Enhancement Jessie Gardner as well as Brittany Price, Joy Burroughs, Lisa Hart, Stephanie Godfrey, Jennifer Sanders, Jared Jaudon, Sarah Kizzire, Emily Roberts, Chelsea Mayers, Brett Basham, Joe Suiter and Lisa Patrick. The staff also includes four assistant academic program advisors and more than 90 part-time tutors.

The BBAC staff works as a liaison between the athletics department, undergraduate and graduate divisions, and the administrative offices of the University. The staff assists with class scheduling and registration, makes sure all athletes are maintaining satisfactory progress toward their degrees, monitors academic eligibility, secures tutors and schedules study sessions, and provides career counseling and leadership development.

CAREER AND LEADERSHIP CENTER

The latest enhancement to the Bill Battle Academic Center came in the fall of 2013, when the Susan & Gaylon McCollough A-Club Career and Leadership Development Center was dedicated. The center, located on the second floor of the Academic Center, is a place where Alabama student-athletes can hone the skills necessary to take the next step in their lives.

"We felt like this was the next logical step," Associate Athletics Director for Student Services Jon Dever said. "We try to prepare our student-athletes with everything they need to be successful in the classroom and now, with this new center, we can help them prepare for that next step in their lives."

The center, led by the Tide's Director of Student-Athlete Enhancement Jessie Gardner, helps student-athletes learn everything from creating a resume to utilizing social media in a professional way to how to interview and network effectively.

The suite was named for Alabama football letterman Gaylon McCollough and his wife Susan. McCollough was a center on the Tide's 1964 National Championship team who earned Academic All-America honors in the classroom and was named All-SEC on the field before being drafted by the Dallas Cowboys.

MAKING THE GRADE

The Bill Battle Academic Center (BBAC) provides many services that help Alabama gymnasts make a smooth transition into the world of collegiate academics. BBAC provides tutors, study sessions and works with student-athletes to help them develop study, note taking and organizational skills. BBAC will also provide a personal monitor that helps guide the student-athlete as long as she or the team's academic advisor feels it is necessary in order for that student-athlete to be successful in the classroom.

All-American and Scholastic All-American Kayla Hoffman is a shining example of what a student-athlete can accomplish when utilizing all the resources that Alabama and BBAC put at their disposal. Hoffman came to the University after being home schooled since the fourth grade.

"Kayla's story is such an inspiration," head coach Dana Duckworth said. "To come back into a classroom after years of being homeschooled and have the amazing academic career that she did shows the success that is possible when someone works extremely hard and uses the tremendous resources the University and athletics department put at their disposal."

Hoffman finished her career with a 4.0 grade point average in human development and family studies. A first team Capital One/CoSIDA Academic All-American, she was also named the 2011 Academic All-American of the Year.

Hoffman's academic prowess, enhanced by the tools the BBAC put at her disposal, led to the Union, N.J., native earning NCAA and Southeastern Conference Postgraduate Scholarships. She was also voted the SEC Gymnastics Scholar-Athlete of the Year in 2011.

An amazing senior season culminated in Hoffman receiving the NCAA Top VIII Award, which honors the nation's top eight senior student-athletes in all sports in all NCAA Divisions for excelling athletically and academically as well as making a difference in the community.

"That's exactly what I wanted," Hoffman said on balancing her athletic and academic accomplishments. "I wanted to be someone who was an excellent student and an excellent athlete. I wanted to show future athletes here at our University that you can be both. That really meant a lot to me."

ACADEMIC ADVISOR HEATHER ANDERS

While she is in her first year working with the gymnastics program, Heather Anders is no stranger to The University of Alabama and its Athletics Department.

A native of Northport, Ala., Anders is in her 16th year working at the University and 14th as part of the Bill Battle Academic Center. She currently serves as Assistant Director of the Crimson Tide's Athletics Student Services program.

"Heather is a wonderful addition to our support team," head coach Dana Duckworth said. "She does an amazing job in helping our ladies get the most out of their academic careers, keeping them on task and on track. Her experience at Alabama is invaluable and we feel very lucky to be working with her."

Prior to working with the gymnastics program, Anders has also worked with the Crimson Tide's soccer, softball, men's and women's swimming and diving, men's and women's track and field/cross country and rowing programs.

"I really love being able to come to work each day and know that I'm helping our student-athletes prepare for the rest of their lives," Anders said. "It's especially rewarding to work with such dedicated and driven young women. That's why I was so excited to start working with gymnastics this fall, it's been an amazing experience."

Her dedication is just one of the reasons that Anders and her BBAC colleagues were honored with the University's 2012 Sam S. May Commitment to Service Award, which recognizes departments that demonstrate exceptional service to their constituents.

One of the factors that makes the Anders' job easier is the commitment the coaching staff has to academics.

"Gymnastics is definitely a program that really emphasizes the importance of getting a great education," Anders said. "It starts from the top with Dana and goes through the entire staff on through the team. It makes for a great learning environment."

Anders' job includes helping the gymnasts map out their academic plan, from picking a major and registering for classes to requesting a personal monitor and scheduling a tutor.

For Alabama gymnasts, the impetus to succeed academically is all around them. The coaching staff makes it clear to the gymnasts from day one that their very best is expected in the classroom, while their teammates encourage them to excel through both word and deed. And while the bar is set high by the coaches and athletes themselves, Anders is there to add her encouragement and provide the tools for that success.

"It's an exciting time to be on this campus," Anders said. "As a University of Alabama graduate, I know that you can get a top-rate education here, and we're continuing to expand our services in the Bill Battle Academic Center all the time. And if you look at the growth, it's not just in athletics, but across the board. There are tremendous resources here at Alabama and we make sure that the student-athletes have full access to them, that they have everything they need to be successful."

Anders' interaction with a student-athlete starts on their recruiting trip when she gives the recruit a tour of the Bill Battle Academic Center and discusses the services provided by BBAC. From that point on, she works with the athletes until the day they graduate.

A graduate of Tuscaloosa County High School, Anders earned a bachelor's degree from Alabama in 1999. Anders and her husband Rich have two daughters, AnnLey and Effie.

"One of the great things about working with the gymnastics team, is that I feel like each of them is an amazing role model to my daughters," Anders said.

CHAMPIONS

COSIDA ACADEMIC ALL-AMERICA HONORS

Mackenzie Brannan, (left) and Keely McNeer (center), pictured with NCAA Champion and Scholastic All-American Katie Bailey, were honored in front of 101,821 fans in Bryant-Denny Stadium during halftime of the Alabama-Ole Miss football game after earning First-Team CoSIDA Academic All-America honors in 2017.

Since Julie Estin earned the first two honors in back-to-back years in 1986 and 1987, Alabama gymnasts have earned 22 CoSIDA Academic All-America accolades, including two during the 2017 season when Mackenzie Brannan and Keely McNeer both took home the accolade. Alabama gymnastics' Academic All-America tally is all the more impressive because gymnasts compete in the at-large category with student-athletes from across the nation in a dozen other sports. The Crimson Tide also leads all gymnastics programs in the honor.

Lauren Beers became the second Alabama gymnast to earn three Academic All-America honors in a career in 2016.

The 2015-16 academic year also saw Beers become the fourth Alabama gymnast to be named CoSIDA At-Large Team Academic All-American of the Year, joining Kim Jacob (2014), Kayla Hoffman (2011) and Stephanie Kite (2004).

Kassi Price (2008, 2009 and 2010) was the first Alabama student-athlete to earn Academic All-America honors three times in a career while Jacob was the first Alabama gymnast and third Tide student-athlete to be named the overall Academic All-American of the Year – presented to the top scholar-athlete in all of NCAA Division I, regardless of sport or gender.

Other Alabama gymnasts to be honored by the College Sports Information Directors of America as Academic All-Americans include Kelly Good, Dana Dobransky, Merritt Both, Meredith Willard and Kristin Sterner.

ALABAMA GYMNASTICS: SEVEN NCAA ELITE 90 AWARDS IN A ROW

In 2016, Lauren Beers became the first gymnast to win back-to-back-to-back NCAA Elite 90 Awards. She earned the Crimson Tide's seventh Elite 90 trophy with a perfect 4.0 grade point average in exercise science. From the left, Alabama head coach Dana Duckworth, Lauren Beers and former assistant director of athletic student services Fern Hampton.

Instituted prior to the 2010 season, the NCAA Elite 90 Award recognizes the student-athlete with the highest cumulative grade point average who has reached the competition at the finals site for each of the NCAA's 90 championships across its three divisions.

With a perfect 4.0 GPA for her career, Lauren Beers became the first gymnast to earn back-to-back-to-back Elite 90 Awards when her name was called for the prestigious honor during the 2016 NCAA Championship Banquet in Ft. Worth, Texas. She is the fourth UA gymnast to earn the award overall and she kept the Crimson Tide's streak a perfect seven-for-seven with her third win.

"We are so very proud of Lauren and ecstatic for our program to be able to continue to earn this amazing honor," Alabama head coach Dana Duckworth said. "Our ladies put a tremendous amount of hard work and dedication into their academic pursuits and this is a shining example of what can happen when your standard is excellence."

One of the most prestigious academic honors bestowed upon a collegiate student-athlete, Alabama gymnastics has dominated the Elite 90 like no other program. Throughout all the sports and NCAA divisions covered by the honor, Alabama gymnastics is the only program to win the award in each of its first seven years in existence.

"We are proud to have earned all seven of these awards," Duckworth said after Beers' third win. "We have tremendous gratitude for Jon Dever, Fern Hampton and the entire staff at the Bill Battle Academic Center for their daily commitment to supporting our student athletes academically. I also want to thank our administration for providing the tools that allow our women to be the best version of themselves in every area of their life. We are truly fortunate."

All-American Kassi Price earned the inaugural award in 2010 with a perfect 4.0 GPA of her own. She was followed by All-American Rachel Terry who won back-to-back trophies in 2011 and 2012, coinciding with the Tide's latest NCAA Championships. All-American Kim Jacob kept the streak alive when she earned the honor in 2013.

Heading into the 2018 season, UA gymnasts have won the honors seven of its eight years. Across all sports, the Tide is tied with Stanford for the NCAA lead in Elite 90 honors with 15 in the award's first eight years.

Kim Jacob earned the Crimson Tide's fourth NCAA Elite 90 Award trophy in 2013.

Rachel Terry became the first gymnast to win two NCAA Elite 90 Awards in a career in 2012.

Rachel Terry won the Crimson Tide's second NCAA Elite 90 Award in 2011.

Kassi Price earned the inaugural NCAA Elite 90 Award in 2010.

NCAA AND SEC POSTGRADUATE SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS

One of the most coveted and prestigious national honors available to collegiate athletes, the NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship is awarded to athletes in their final year of competition who have performed with distinction both athletically and academically.

Some programs never have an athlete receive the scholarship, while Alabama gymnastics has produced 20 NCAA postgraduate scholarships since Julie Garrett earned the first in 1983, the most of any program in the nation, a total that includes the Tide's latest honoree, 2017 senior Keely McNeer. That total includes Ashley Sledge, who earned two NCAA postgraduate scholarships (the standard and the Ethnic Minority and Women's Enhancement Scholarship), giving Alabama 19 gymnasts with 20 scholarships.

In addition to the NCAA honors, Alabama gymnasts have earned 11 Southeastern Conference Postgraduate Scholarships, including Lauren Beers in 2016. Alabama's SEC scholarship total also leads all gymnastics programs.

All told, 21 Alabama gymnasts have earned either NCAA or SEC postgraduate scholarships, with half of those earning both.

Sarah DeMeo, Kim Jacob and Diandra Milliner became the first Alabama gymnastics class to collect three of the prestigious scholarships – which are valued at $7,500 each – in the same year.

The NCAA awarded 29 postgraduate scholarships to women competing in the winter sports in 2014 and Alabama and Emory were the only schools to have three honorees. Additionally, Alabama was the only school to have three come from the same sport.

A total of six members of the Tide's 2011 NCAA Championship team earned NCAA Postgraduate Scholarships, with DeMeo, Jacob and Milliner joining 2013 seniors Ashley Priess and Ashley Sledge and 2011 senior Kayla Hoffman.

ALABAMA GYMNASTS LEND A HELPING HAND

As much as winning championships and excelling in the classroom, working to make the world around them a better place is one of the prime hallmarks of the Alabama gymnastics program.

"We are known for excellence athletically and academically," head coach Dana Duckworth said. "But being a part of the Alabama gymnastics family also means giving of yourself to other people, lending a helping hand where it is needed and being an engaged citizen in the community."

Alabama gymnasts are busy throughout the community, especially when it comes to The Power of Pink, ReadBAMARead and working with The RISE School. The Tide also helps with the Special Olympics; speaking to local school children about staying away from drugs and alcohol; organizing a bake sale to raise funds for Project Angel Tree; painting faces and helping kids with their somersaults during the Tide's annual Halloween Extravaganza; or helping raise awareness for the fight against breast cancer with the Power of Pink meet.

The Tide continues to roll in this crucial area. Lauren Beers was named the SEC Community Service Leader of the Year in 2016, an award that spans all sports and schools in the SEC. Andréé Pickens won the same award in 2002 just weeks after leading the Crimson Tide to the NCAA Championship, proving that there is always time to give back.

In addition to team projects, each gymnast finds her own way to make a difference, from working in soup kitchens to visiting the elderly at assisted living facilities, and nearly every gymnast has encouraged school children through various speaking engagements.

THE DAVID DESANTIS COMMUNITY SERVICE AWARD

Nickie Guerrero, winner of the 2017 David DeSantis Community Service Award, with 2012 winner Dana Duckworth during the annual Medalist Club Awards Banquet.

There is no doubt that Nickie Guerrero wears her heart on her sleeve. Watch her compete and you'll see the passion that she brings to her gymnastics. Watch her with her team and you'll see the love she has for her fellow gymnasts and watch her in the community, and you'll see someone with a servant's heart, striving at all times to make a difference in the world around her.

"Nickie has such a huge heart," head coach Dana Duckworth said. "She is one of those people who is so giving of herself and wants to make a difference in any way she can. Her love for the community shines so brightly, and is a beacon to everyone around her."

An All-American and Scholastic All-American, Guerrero has worked with Habitat for Humanity, as a volunteer with the "Yeah Yeah Yeah" 5K race, Project Angel Tree and the RISE School as well as Tide Tykes and Teens. She also volunteered with Alabama's Halloween Extravaganza and for Hurricane Harvey Relief.

In 2017, for all her efforts in the community Guerrero was honored with the David DeSantis Community Service Award, named in 2009 for the local philanthropist.

DeSantis has been an integral part in the Crimson Tide's Power of Pink initiative since its inception, helping raise more than $1.8 million for the DCH Breast Cancer Fund through the annual Tuscaloosa Toyota/DCH Foundation Golf Classic and Nite on the Green events. He and Tuscaloosa Toyota also lent a generous hand to head coach Dana Duckworth's ReadBAMARead Foundation in its first year, combining with Toyota Motor Sales USA to contribute more than $20,000 to the foundation during the Crimson Tide's 2012 Tornado Relief meet against Missouri.

Prior to Guerrero, Scholastic All-American Mackenzie Valentin earned the DeSantis award in 2016, All-American and Academic All-American Lauren Beers earned the award in 2015 and NCAA Champion, All-American and Academic All-American Kim Jacob earned the honor in 2013 and 2014. Duckworth earned the honor in 2012 for her ReadBAMARead Foundation. Scholastic All-American Alyssa Chapman earned the award in 2011 following All-American Kassi Price in 2010 honor. All-American Ricki Lebegern became the inaugural recipient of the award in 2009.

CHAMPIONS THE POWER OF PINK

BUILT BY BAMA

Pink shakers, pink shirts, even the occasional pink boa – once a season, everyone puts on their best pink outfits, grabs their favorite pink accessories and heads to Coleman Coliseum for a gymnastics meet. The pink isn't as much a fashion statement, but a show of support for former Alabama gymnastics head coach Sarah Patterson's Power of Pink initiative.

It started with a simple idea and grew into one of Patterson's greatest triumphs. She wanted to help raise awareness for the fight against breast cancer, a disease that has touched the lives of so many women around the world.

"I am very lucky," Patterson said. "Not only to be healthy, but also that I have access to excellent medical care. Not everyone is so fortunate, and I wanted to do something that would help those who need it most."

So she picked Alabama vs. Auburn on Feb. 4, 2005, and designated it as the "Drive 4 the Cause" meet. She asked everyone to mark the date and to "Think Pink, Wear Pink."

They did and in droves with the first Power of Pink meet drawing 13,299 fans and a legion of support.

That singular idea and that first meet blossomed into a staggering phenomenon and on Friday, Feb. 2, 2018, Alabama will host its 14th Power of Pink meet, welcoming the Arkansas Razorbacks to Coleman Coliseum while resplendent in pink.

Over the past 13 years more than 188,000 fans have filled Coleman Coliseum with pink for the annual event, including an Alabama and Southeastern Conference record 15,162 fans in 2006 and matching sellouts of 15,075 in 2007, 2008, 2009, 2010, 2012, 2013 and 2014.

The event has evolved into an extraordinary and powerful night dedicated to awareness and hope. In the week prior to each Power of Pink meet, the Coliseum and dozens of University and Tuscaloosa buildings and landmarks are lit in pink. Prior to the start of the meet itself, the gymnasts step up on to a platform in the center of the arena floor alongside a breast cancer survivor, honoring their fight and those of so many others.

Within the UA athletics department the event has grown from gymnastics to other sports to the point where Alabama Athletics' Power of Pink program sees Crimson Tide women's teams hosting pink events throughout the year.

The pink events have also gone beyond Crimson Tide athletics and Tuscaloosa, exploding into a nation-wide cause. Since Alabama hosted its first meet in 2005, all of the nation's top gymnastics programs have either hosted or participated in a pink meet, including every member of the Southeastern Conference.

The Women's Basketball Coaches Association started its pink initiative in 2007, encouraging its members to participate in a "Think Pink" week that has now evolved into the WBCA's "Pink Zone."

There have been similar efforts at the collegiate level in women's soccer and volleyball as well. Even the NFL and Major League Baseball have gotten into the act with NFL players wearing pink gloves, chinstraps and shoes during Breast Cancer Awareness Month in October and MLB players using pink bats on Mother's Day in a show of support in the fight against breast cancer.

From the beginning, support for Patterson's Power of Pink initiative was swift and widespread.

"So many people have worked extremely hard and put in long hours for this worthy cause, this vital fight," Patterson said. "What we all realize is that as coach Paul Bryant was fond of saying 'The price of victory is high, but so are the rewards.' I can think of no greater reward, no better return on the investment of time and resources so many have put forth, than beating this disease."

The Power of Pink continues to grow every day, and because of the way Tuscaloosa has taken to the Power of Pink, women in the West Alabama community have someone in their corner in the fight against breast cancer.

THE DCH BREAST CANCER FUND

The DCH Foundation established a fund to support Sarah Patterson's Power of Pink initiative in the winter of 2004. Donations can be made to the DCH Breast Cancer Fund by mailing a check to: DCH Foundation, 809 University Blvd. E., Tuscaloosa, AL 35401. The DCH Breast Cancer Fund should be noted on the memo line of the check.

The DCH Foundation, Inc., was established in 1973 to provide a way for citizens of West Alabama to help create for themselves the best health system in the nation.

More about the DCH Breast Cancer Fund: The DCH Breast Cancer Fund's purpose is to promote awareness and provide educational programs on prevention and early detection of breast cancer. The Fund also provides breast screenings to women in need of those services. Patients who meet the eligibility requirements will be provided assistance to pay for early detection services at the DCH Cancer Center. Eligibility criteria will be prepared and provided upon request.

During her tenure as an NCAA-champion gymnast, Dana Duckworth had plenty of experience with high-flying acrobatics, but nothing quite like what she experienced in March 2015, when she went on a ride-along with the famed Blue Angels, the United States Navy Flight Demonstration Squadron.

Duckworth took the ride just days after leading the Crimson Tide to the 2015 Southeastern Conference Gymnastics Championship and becoming the first in SEC gymnastics history to win a league championship in their inaugural season as head coach, but it was her work in the community, specifically as cofounder of ReadBAMAREad, that prompted her to be chosen as a "Key Influencer" from the Tuscaloosa community, and earned her a place in the Blue Angels cockpit.

"Flying with the Blue Angels was a once-in-a-lifetime experience," Duckworth said. "But the neatest thing about it for me was that they were recognizing what ReadBAMAREad has done in the community."

The ReadBAMAREad non-profit charity, cofounded by Duckworth and Donna Benjamin, has an ongoing mission to enhance childhood literacy. In its earliest days, ReadBAMAREad took an active role in restocking the three elementary school libraries that were destroyed by the tornadoes that ripped through West Alabama in April 2011.

"One of the things we discovered was that in addition to all the other damage and destruction there were three elementary schools and one middle school that had either lost their entire library in the storm or had most of their library book inventory destroyed," Duckworth said.

That was a light bulb moment for Duckworth and Benjamin, and at that moment ReadBAMAREad was born.

"I've always believed that reading is fundamental to all learning, and I knew immediately that this was something that could make a real difference in our community," Duckworth said.

Armed with their legendary energy and enthusiasm, Duckworth and Benjamin put together a foundation to help raise money to stock the libraries once they were rebuilt.

ReadBAMAREad took off immediately. That good start got better when David DeSantis and Tuscaloosa Toyota pledged $200 for every 9.8 or better that Alabama scores during the Crimson Tide's first three meets in 2012.

The Tide tallied 62 scores of 9.8 or better over its first three meets, which meant that Tuscaloosa Toyota donated $12,400 to ReadBAMAREad prior to Alabama's "Tornado Relief Meet" against Missouri on March 9, 2012. David and Terri DeSantis presented Duckworth, Benjamin and ReadBAMAREad with a check for $12,400 which Toyota Motor Sales USA augmented with a check for $10,000, for a total of $22,400.

"That was such an amazing night," Duckworth said. "David DeSantis and everyone at Tuscaloosa Toyota are so incredible and their support of ReadBAMAREad throughout the season had already made such a huge difference, so when they presented the second check, I was just speechless."

With donations like the one made by Tuscaloosa Toyota, along with partnerships with The Color Run and the Tuscaloosa Half Marathon, ReadBAMAREad met its initial goal of raising enough money for 10,000 bound, library-quality books – at a cost of approximately $15 each – for the rebuilt schools in June 2014.

With that goal met, the initiative turned its attention to childhood literacy as a whole. Now, in addition to providing grants for library books to local elementary schools, ReadBAMAREad has instituted its ReadBAMAREad Express program, which will bring books to the youngest students in the state of Alabama's school systems, helping ignite an interest in reading.

The ReadBAMAREad Express initiative works to provide books and reading motivation to children throughout the West Alabama community each year.

The mission of ReadBAMAREad falls in line with the ideal of Alabama gymnastics.

"As student-athletes, our ladies strive every day to be the best that you can be," Duckworth said. "And through ReadBAMAREad, we are helping children strive for that same ideal and I couldn't be prouder of that fact."

KEEPING UP WITH THE CRIMSON TIDE

Already one of the nation's most visible collegiate athletics programs, Alabama gymnastics received a huge boost in exposure in 2015 with the advent of the SEC Network, a highly successful joint venture between the Southeastern Conference and ESPN to highlight the league and its schools. With more live events than any other conference, gymnastics was one of the sports that took a huge leap in exposure and popularity with the new venture.

"We are so excited that our fans across the country and really around the world will have the opportunity to see our ladies compete live," head coach Dana Duckworth said. "The SEC Network and ESPN provide such amazing exposure for our team and our University."

In 2016, the SEC Network's gymnastics coverage took another step forward when both sessions of the Southeastern Conference Championships were broadcast live.

"It's so exciting that the SEC Network has put this kind of comprehensive coverage together for us and our fans," Duckworth said. "They are changing the way gymnastics is viewed. Our fans across the world will be able to follow every routine and that's great for fans of the SEC and everyone who loves gymnastics."

The blueprint the SEC Network created with the SEC Championship broadcasts were carried over to nationals when the same crew came together to broadcast the NCAA Championships live on ESPN's family of networks.

In 2018, six of the Tide's regular-season meets will be broadcast live and another will be televised on a tape delayed basis. All six of Alabama's regular-season home meets will either be televised or streamed via the SEC Network+ platform. The NCAA Championships - semifinals and Super Six Team finals - will be broadcast live on the ESPN family of networks.

Since 2000, Crimson Tide gymnastics has also had its own weekly television show during the season. The "Dana Duckworth Show" got underway in 2015. The half-hour show, produced in the Crimson Tide's state-of-the-art digital media center, highlights the gymnastics team's season.

The Tide is also featured on a weekly video feed that sends highlights and interviews to television stations around the country to be used in local and national broadcasts, so that no matter where a gymnast is from, her hometown media outlets can keep up with her.

Duckworth is a regular on the Tide's weekly radio program, "Hey, Coach!" during the season, reviewing the week before and previewing the upcoming action.

To keep up with media interest, Alabama gymnastics holds a weekly media opportunity.

As for keeping up with the day-to-day aspects of the Tide, the Internet continues to make that easier all the time. BamaGymnastics is the Crimson Tide's handle for Twitter, Instagram and Facebook. Alabama leads all collegiate gymnastics programs in Twitter followers and stands among the national leaders in Instagram and Facebook likes. Duckworth also keeps everyone up to date on everything Alabama on Twitter and Instagram (@UACoachDana).

There are a pair of websites devoted to Alabama gymnasts and their accomplishments. The official University of Alabama Athletics site is located at RollTide.com. The other key site for those who want to be in the know about UA gymnastics is GymTide.com, a product of Alabama's booster organization, The Medalist Club. The Medalist Club's Leesa Davis and Jan Davis provide live online commentary for all the Tide's meets, routine-by-routine, on GymTide.com, while Jim Davis has been providing photography and videography for the site since its inception in the late 1990s.

Alabama is also one of the few collegiate women's programs in the nation that produces a full-color program for each regular-season home meet. The souvenir programs include interviews, statistics, features and opponent information.

ALABAMA GYMNASTICS IN THE NEWS

In addition to being regulars on television, on the internet and in magazines, Crimson Tide gymnastics is also front page news for Alabama's daily newspapers. Alabama gymnastics has also warranted its own special section in The Tuscaloosa News on average of once a year over the past decade. Those special sections usually come in conjunction with the Tide's biggest meet of the season and explore a variety of topics, including the art of vaulting, the physics of gymnastics, Alabama's ever-growing attendance and the Power of Pink initiative.

DANA DUCKWORTH

HEAD COACH

To say that Dana Duckworth has never met a stranger is an understatement. "I love connecting with people," she said. "It's one of the true joys in my life."

It's an attribute she first developed growing up in Michigan and continued during her extraordinary career, first within USA Gymnastics and later as an NCAA Champion at Alabama.

It's also what led her to be ultra-successful, first in the corporate world and then as an assistant coach and then, ultimately, head coach at her alma mater.

"At Alabama, we want to develop gymnasts who enjoy great success both in the arena and in the classroom, but more than that, we focus on developing the whole person," Duckworth said. "That's always been one of the cornerstones of this program and its success."

Now in her fourth year as the Crimson Tide's head coach, the continuation of that philosophy has held Alabama and its gymnasts in good stead.

In 2014-15, Duckworth became the first in league history to lead a team to an SEC gymnastics championship as a first-year head coach. Under her direction, the Tide also extended its streak of top-four NCAA finishes to seven, by far the best in the nation. Under her direction, the Tide also won its NCAA-best 30th regional title.

She also got to fly with the Blue Angles, serve as the Grand Marshal of the Crimson Tide's 2015 Homecoming Parade, visit midfield of Bryant-Denny Stadium to receive yet another championship ring and look on as Kim Jacob was honored as a finalist for the NCAA Woman of the Year in Indianapolis.

That success continued unabated in her second and third seasons as the Tide's head coach. Alabama earned another NCAA regional title, and finished third at the NCAA Championships in 2016, marking the Tide's 23rd top-three national finish, the most in collegiate gymnastics history. She also saw 2016 senior Lauren Beers earn her third NCAA Elite 90 Award and the 2016 SEC Community Service of the Year honor. In 2017, Alabama earned its NCAA-best 23rd Super Six Finals berth, and became the only team to finish in the top six each of the past 10 years. Individually, Katie Bailey earned another individual NCAA title, while Keely McNeer earned Alabama's 20th NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship.

Through all this, Duckworth found that fundamentals of leadership, whether as a gymnast, volunteer coach, a full-time assistant coach or a head coach, remain the same.

"I am here to help these young ladies become the best version of themselves," Duckworth said. "If I'm focused on that, then everything else will take care of itself. There's no cookie-cutter approach at Alabama. We take the time to get to know each gymnast and identify what will make them successful and then we work to achieve as much as we can within a family environment."

That understanding of what drives success at Alabama is why Duckworth was the only choice for the legendary Sarah and David Patterson when they went looking for an assistant coach in the late 2000s and again when the Pattersons retired and the University needed to hire a new head coach for the first time in nearly 40 years.

"I took recruiting trips to the top five schools – schools that are still in the top five today – and I felt something here," Duckworth said. "I felt a connection with the coaches and with the team, a chemistry that I knew, even then, that I would not find at a different school. I went on four other trips and they just solidified what I felt here at Alabama. I love our environment, I love our culture, I love our tradition and I love the fact that when you go out as an Alabama gymnast you represent all those things."

It was those same elements that made her decision to leave a lucrative career with Pfizer Pharmaceuticals to join the Alabama coaching staff on a full-time basis in the fall of 2008 after nine years as a volunteer coach with the Crimson Tide such an easy one.

"I really enjoyed what I was doing at Pfizer and it's a tremendous company but my heart and my passion have always been here at the Capstone with our program," Duckworth said. "I felt like this was an opportunity for me to do what I love and everyone I have ever talked to has said, if you love what you do, you'll never go to another day of work in your life."

Part of the Alabama gymnastics program as a gymnast and coach for 22 seasons, Duckworth has been a part of NCAA team championships from both sides. She was part of the Tide's 1991 NCAA title as a sophomore and the 2002, 2011 and 2012 NCAA championships as a coach. She has also won conference titles as an athlete (1990) and a coach (2003, 2009, 2011, 2014 and 2015).

As much as Duckworth appreciates the championship tradition she has been a part of for so long, what she holds most dear is the overall atmosphere created by the people who live, work and go to school at Alabama.

"The people at The University of Alabama make everything unique and special," Duckworth said. "I love the fact that The University of Alabama is about tradition and culture. I tell people all the time that Tuscaloosa is the best-kept secret because we have it all here and everyone approaches things with a great deal of passion. It makes people's experience very special."

In addition to her infectious enthusiasm for the Crimson Tide and her skills as a technical coach, Duckworth also brings her standing as one of the nation's premier choreographers to the gym. Nothing drives that point home quite like the consistent success the athletes she has worked with have enjoyed.

When GERALD Stack-Eaton won the 2011 NCAA floor exercise championship to cap off an extraordinary junior season, it marked the fifth time that a Duckworth-choreographed routine won the NCAA floor title, including one each by Alabama's Morgan Dennis and Ashley Miles plus a pair by North Carolina's Courtney Bumpers. During her storied Tide career, Miles earned four top-three national finishes on the floor, including the 2004 NCAA floor exercise championship. Duckworth also helped Miles win four consecutive Southeastern Conference and NCAA Regional floor exercise titles. Miles became the first gymnast in SEC history to win the same event all four years of her career.

"It's such a wonderful experience to be able to help these athletes bring out their personality and perform routines that shine," Duckworth said.

As a gymnast, the former Dana Dobransky earned eight All-America accolades and finished her career in 1993 by winning her second consecutive NCAA balance beam title with a perfect 10.0. She was named NCAA Woman of the Year for the State of Alabama in 1993.

As a student, Duckworth was a three-year Scholastic All-American and a two-time CoSIDA at-large Academic All-American, an award that spans several sports. She was inducted into Mortar Board as an undergraduate and earned both an NCAA and SEC Postgraduate Scholarship, utilizing them to attend graduate school at Alabama and obtain her masters of business administration in 1998.

"I could have gone anywhere in the country to get my MBA," Duckworth said. "But I chose to come back to Alabama because our business school is one of the best in the country and I loved the size of the campus, I loved the MBA program and more than all that, it was a chance to come back to a place I consider home."

After graduating with her bachelor's degree, Duckworth moved up the corporate ladder quickly at AMX Corporation, a high tech firm based in Dallas. She finished her tenure there as manager of AMX's training programs. After receiving her master's degree, Duckworth served as director of marketing for a Trussville-based automotive company followed by a stint as Vice President of Corporate Solutions for a Birmingham company before returning to Tuscaloosa for a highly successful run with Pfizer.

Duckworth's return to Tuscaloosa also saw her start a family. She and her husband Joe, a Tuscaloosa native, married in 2000. The couple has a daughter Camryn born in 2004 and a son Jace born in 2006.

"I could not do this without the support of my husband, my children and my family," Duckworth said. "I also couldn't do this without the support and love of the Alabama gymnastics family. Being an Alabama gymnast is so much more than a four-year commitment. It's building a bond that lasts a lifetime."

BRYAN RASCHILLA

ASSOCIATE HEAD COACH

Bryan Raschilla, in his 22nd season with the Crimson Tide, is now in his fourth season as Alabama's associate head coach.

"I have so much respect for Bryan's technical expertise, his eye for talent and his gift for art and creative design," UA head coach Dana Duckworth said. "All of that has allowed him to make an indelible mark on our program. Bryan has been a part of this program for 20 years and during that time he has proven himself an awesome coach, family man and friend."

For Raschilla, there is no better place to be than The University of Alabama and no better job than coaching its gymnastics team.

"I absolutely love what I am doing," Raschilla said. "I get to meet and build relationships with some really wonderful people. The chance to work with this caliber of student-athlete, I don't think you get anywhere else. And what I like the most is that it's not just about gymnastics and it's not just about the four years they're here on campus. Being at Alabama is about creating lifelong relationships."

Most importantly to him, Raschilla has seen class after class of Alabama gymnasts come through the program, grow as athletes and people and graduate, ready to make something great of their lives.

"I'm at Alabama to be a part of a program that does things the right way," Raschilla said. "I have the good fortune to coach athletes who excel in academics, athletics and community service. To be able to have some part in their development is really at the heart of why I coach."

Since he joined the Tide for the 1997 season, Raschilla has helped coach Alabama to NCAA championships in 2002, 2011 and 2012 as well as a trio of NCAA runner-up finishes and 19 top-six national finishes overall. With Raschilla on board, the Tide also owns four of the past nine Southeastern Conference titles and six overall, with league championships coming in 2000, 2003, 2009, 2011, 2014 and 2015.

Alabama gymnasts have won 16 individual NCAA titles during his tenure, including Katie Bailey's uneven bars title in 2017 and vault championship in 2016, as well as Kim Jacob's 2014 NCAA all-around championship. The Tide has earned 218 Championship All-America honors and 217 Scholastic All-America honors with Raschilla on staff. On a conference level, in addition to the team titles, Alabama gymnasts have won 51 individual SEC titles and been named to the SEC Academic Honor Roll 268 times since he arrived.

As the Tide's primary uneven bars and floor exercise tumbling coach, Raschilla has helped some of the Crimson Tide's best gymnasts to ever greater heights, including Bailey, two-time NCAA uneven bars champion Terin Humphrey and NCAA floor exercise champions Ashley Miles, Morgan Dennis and GERALEN Stack-Eaton.

The Crimson Tide's tradition of excellence has garnered a staunch following, another aspect of the program that Raschilla loves.

"There is no better program in the country in terms of atmosphere," Raschilla said. "Coleman Coliseum is the best arena to compete in. We draw between 12,000 and 15,000 people per home meet and we sell out pretty much every year, bringing over 15,000 fans in to watch our ladies compete."

Raschilla's excitement about Alabama goes far beyond the gymnastics program, extending to the University as a whole.

"I love the energy this campus has and how it's growing all the time," Raschilla said. "There's not a better time to be here than right now, and it's not just because Alabama has won 10 national championships, including two in gymnastics since 2009. It's great people coming together to do amazing things. If you look at how the student body has grown and how campus has grown right along with it, today's students enjoy the best of the best all the time."

For Raschilla the campus atmosphere makes Tuscaloosa a great place to raise his family. While he and wife Laura are Ohio natives, their son Adam, born in 1998, and daughter Kathryn, born in 2001, are native Alabamians, born and raised. Kathryn plays volleyball and basketball for Tuscaloosa County High School while Adam is a sophomore on the Western Kentucky football team after an all-star career at Tuscaloosa County.

"Both our children were born here and we have family that moved here to be with us and to get warm," Raschilla said with a laugh. "Laura and I may be from Ohio originally, but we consider ourselves Alabamians now and we feel fortunate to be raising our family in Tuscaloosa. It's a strong community, one that's growing all the time."

As his own family has grown, Raschilla has come to appreciate the family aspect of the Tide gymnastics program more and more.

"I am impressed and amazed by how our ladies stay connected to the program and to each other," Raschilla said. "They also remain big fans and supporters of the team, from those who graduated over 30 years ago to those who graduated last year. There is just a tremendous bond, one that lasts a lifetime, and it's truly a family, one that is there in the good times and the tough times."

His duties with the Crimson Tide are as wide-ranging as his talents, including recruiting, serving as the primary uneven bars coach and tumbling coach on the floor exercise as well as coordinating all aspects of practice with Duckworth.

Raschilla also brings a talent for graphic design to bear on the Tide's posters, logos, advertising, media guide covers along with a host of other projects. His most recent work is on display in the Crimson Tide's newly revitalized practice facility. Raschilla produced the graphics design for the larger-than-life murals that populate the gym.

So how did the 6-foot, 5-inch redhead with a degree in graphic design get involved in the one sport he'd never tried?

"I probably get asked that question a hundred times a year," Raschilla said with a laugh.

Asked to spot for his high school team, Raschilla's interest continued to develop throughout his time at Youngstown State University in Ohio when he coached age-group gymnastics. After 11 years of club gymnastics and countless state champions, national qualifiers and national team members, he moved into the collegiate arena.

"I started in 1983 and I've been coaching ever since," Raschilla said.

Following a two-year stretch coaching at the University of Michigan, Raschilla came to Alabama. In his years with the Crimson Tide in Tuscaloosa, Raschilla has accumulated masses of great memories, but it is not just the championships, the honors and the victories that stick with him.

"As a coach, some of my greatest memories come from those moments that no one else sees," Raschilla said. "It's those moments in the gym when someone is having a hard time, but they push through anyway. It's breakthroughs in practice, and all the hard work along the way that sets up the championship moments. Those are some of my best memories."

BILL LORENZ

ASSISTANT COACH

When head coach Dana Duckworth went to hire the first new member of the Crimson Tide's coaching family since the 1990s, the search was exhaustive, but in the end the choice was clear and Bill Lorenz joined Duckworth and associate head coach Bryan Raschilla to lead Alabama gymnastics into the future.

"We talked to people all over the country in preparing to make this hire and time and again, it came back to Bill," Duckworth said. "He is a tremendous coach, but more than anything, he understands the tradition of excellence that Alabama's championship legacy is built on. Most importantly, his coaching style is built on the sense of family that has made Alabama gymnastics so great for so many years.

"He is the perfect fit for our program," Duckworth said.

Now in his fourth season with Alabama gymnastics, Lorenz made an immediate impact for the Crimson Tide, helping lead the 2015 team to its ninth Southeastern Conference title. In 2016, he helped coach Alabama to its NCAA-best 31st regional championship, 32nd top-six finish at the NCAA Championships. Last season saw another trip to the NCAA championships and an NCAA-best 23rd Super Six team finish for the Tide.

"It was an exciting year to say the least," Lorenz said. "It's one thing to see what Alabama gymnastics is from the outside, to see how they win championships and produce amazing gymnasts. It's quite another to be a part of it from the first practice on. It is an amazing experience. I can't wait to get to work every day."

In his second year with the Tide, he also helped coach Katie Bailey to the 2016 NCAA vault title, Alabama's fifth national vault championship and 26th individual NCAA title overall. Mackenzie Brannan also won the 2016 SEC vault title after winning the NCAA Auburn Regional vault championship in 2015.

In addition to his in-the-gym coaching duties, Lorenz is also the Tide's recruiting coordinator.

"His attention to detail and his winning personality have allowed him to really make a difference in the gym and in his role as our recruiting coordinator," Duckworth said. "He has such a kind and genuine personality that really shines through in his work with our ladies everyday, he's just a joy to have to have as part of our family."

The Lorenz family, from the left – Andrea, Madeline, Courtney and Bill

Lorenz came to Alabama after spending a decade at Ohio State, where he was named the National Assistant Coach of the Year in 2012 and the Central Region Assistant Coach of the Year in 2011 and 2012.

"I feel privileged to be able to work alongside two of the best gymnastics coaches in the business in Dana and Bryan," Lorenz said. "I always knew there was something special about Tuscaloosa and The University of Alabama, but after seeing it firsthand, their tradition of excellence is unparalleled in college athletics."

Lorenz served as chair of the National Association of Collegiate Gymnastics Coaches competition committee from 2011-15.

"Through my work with the competition committee, I had the opportunity to meet and get to know coaches all over the country, and I can tell you that one of things that makes Alabama so special is the extraordinary people here," Lorenz said. "From the coaches to the athletes and the incredible support staff, everyone here is incredibly driven not only to see our ladies be successful in the gym but in the classroom and in life beyond college as well. I think it's what makes the Crimson Tide so successful."

Lorenz is excited to be part of a staff that includes veterans with more than 40 years of combined experience with the Tide.

"To work with Dana, who has been through this program as a phenomenally successful athlete and coach, and Bryan, who has been a large part of the program's success for the last 20 years, is a real draw," Lorenz said. "Both have been involved in winning NCAA and Southeastern Conference championships and both were mentored by Sarah and David Patterson, who have not only left their mark on this program, but the entire sport of gymnastics."

During his tenure in Columbus, he helped lead Ohio State to its first NCAA Championship appearance in 22 years in 2012. The Buckeyes also produced seven All-Americans, including their first in more than a decade while Lorenz was on staff, as well as 19 All-Big 10 gymnasts and two Big 10 Freshmen of the Year

Prior to joining Ohio State, Lorenz spent two seasons as an assistant coach at Penn State, a stint that included a runner-up finish at the Big 10 Championships.

He started his collegiate coaching career with a year each at Maryland and George Washington.

At the club level, Lorenz coached at Chantilly Gymnasium, Nassau Gymnastics and the legendary Woodward Gymnastics Camp.

Lorenz earned a Bachelor's degree in journalism at the University of Massachusetts, in 1998, where he competed as part of the Minutemen's gymnastics team. He is married to the former Andrea Scialdo. The couple has two daughters, Madeline and Courtney.

"As excited as I am to be a part of this amazing program, my wife and I are equally excited about to raise our family in a community that is so nurturing and giving," Lorenz said. "And of course, to have the opportunity for our girls to be around this team and to have such wonderful role models is a tremendous plus as well."

ALABAMA GYMNASTICS HEALTH AND WELLNESS STAFF

As important as it is to assemble a great team on the floor every season, it is just as important to the Alabama gymnastics team to have the perfect staff helping maintain the health and wellness of its student-athletes. To that end, in conjunction with the Crimson Tide's team physicians, the trio of Monica Decker Kirkpatrick, Deanna Hayes Brown and Rachel Pfister, along with their respective staffs, work tirelessly to keep the Crimson Tide in top physical condition.

MONICA DECKER KIRKPATRICK: ATHLETIC TRAINER

There is nothing more important to Dana Duckworth than the health and welfare of her gymnasts, which is why athletic trainer Monica Decker Kirkpatrick, now in her 17th year as a member of the gymnastics program, is such an important part of Duckworth's staff.

"Monica is an amazing asset to our program," Duckworth said. "She is so knowledgeable not only when it comes to athletic training in general, but after more than a dozen years working with our program, she knows exactly how to apply that knowledge when it comes to the sport of gymnastics. There's no one better when it comes to taking care of our ladies."

A native of Phoenix, Ariz., Kirkpatrick earned her Bachelor's Degree in Exercise Science from Arizona State in 2000. She earned a Master's in Sports Medicine Health Care from Alabama in 2002 and is pursuing a second Master's in Food and Nutrition.

In addition to serving as a certified athletic trainer on the Tide staff, Kirkpatrick is also a clinical instructor in Alabama's athletic training undergraduate program.

Much of Kirkpatrick's day-to-day work, especially in the preseason, is spent on preventative measures, helping stop problems before they get started. During the season, most of her time is spent helping the athletes maintain their health and fitness levels.

"Positive reinforcement is a big part of the job," Kirkpatrick said. "To be there every day, encouraging them, letting them know that they are making progress and keeping them positive."

Kirkpatrick is ever-present throughout the rehabilitation process to help the gymnasts return to peak health as quickly and safely as possible. Kirkpatrick worked extensively with 2002 senior Andree Pickens, helping her come back from a torn Achilles tendon. She was part of a team that included orthopedic surgeon Dr. James Andrews, who helped Pickens not only come back in record time but lead Alabama to its fourth NCAA Championship in 2002. For her efforts that season, Kirkpatrick was awarded the David Dutton Memorial Award, presented to individuals who go above and beyond the call of duty for the Alabama gymnastics program.

In addition to her other duties, Kirkpatrick also tries to teach her charges the importance of carrying on healthy habits into the life beyond their career.

"I hope that I can teach them all enough about taking care of themselves, that when they go out into the world they enjoy healthy and successful lives," Kirkpatrick said. "And being part of the Alabama gymnastics family, I look forward to watching them grow and mature over the years."

Kirkpatrick and her husband Billy have three children, daughter Ayana and sons, Hayden and Christian.

DEANNA HAYES BROWN: STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING COACH

In the midst of her third year as Alabama gymnastics' strength and conditioning coach, Deanna Hayes Brown has already made an impressive impact on the Crimson Tide.

"Deanna is completely invested in each individual gymnast and what they need to be successful," head coach Dana Duckworth said. "She is dedicated 150 percent to our program's success and it shows every day. Her faith, passion and willingness to adapt to our program and have it ready to peak at the right time has been invaluable."

A 2014 Summa Cum Laude University of Alabama graduate with a bachelor's degree in exercise science, Brown earned her master's degree in sports management in May 2016.

"To say that I am blessed, is an understatement," Brown said. "I am surrounded by incredible people, from the coaches and staff to the student volunteers, to the gymnasts themselves. These young women are the hardest working student-athletes I've ever worked with. They truly amaze me daily."

Prior to joining the gymnastics staff, Brown worked with the Crimson Tide's softball, volleyball and women's golf teams. She also oversaw Alabama's all-girl and co-ed cheerleading squads.

Certified by the National Strength and Conditioning Association, Brown works tirelessly to precisely tailor the Tide's program for success.

"Because gymnastics requires skill, strength, power, balance, flexibility and endurance, it requires a detailed strength and conditioning program to cater to their sport specific needs," Brown said. "I work side-by-side with the coaching staff and have written a program to complement the coaches' practice plans to maximize the gymnasts' athletic performance."

A native of Mobile, Ala., Brown graduated from Satsuma High School in 2010 where she was a member of the National Honor Society and Mu Alpha Theta. She also served as class president and was a varsity cheerleader as well as a member of the varsity tennis and cross country teams.

She was also voted Miss Satsuma as well as Miss Mobile and Miss Mobile USA.

In addition to her work with the athletics department's strength and conditioning program, Brown also served as a member of The University of Alabama student government association's first-year council.

Brown and her husband Blake tied the knot in 2016.

PERFORMANCE NUTRITION

AMY BRAGG

DIRECTOR OF PERFORMANCE NUTRITION

Amy Bragg and Rachel Pfister are the Crimson Tide's secret weapons when it comes to keeping its gymnasts fueled and ready at all times for whatever is on the horizon, whether it's practice, competition or the recovery phase of the season.

As the Crimson Tide's director and assistant director of Performance Nutrition, respectively, Bragg and Pfister oversee the nutritional coaching for Alabama's student-athletes as well as managing training table, pregame and travel meals.

"With gymnastics we want to integrate with sports medicine and strength and conditioning and take an educator's role and a coaching role with the girls," Bragg said. "We work with them on their overall nutrition and then work with the team more in an operations capacity, helping plan meals on the road and nutrition in the locker room and for recovery on a team-wide basis."

They also work closely with the coaching, strength and conditioning and sports medicine staffs to maximize the student-athletes' health and performance.

"Amy and Rachel are amazing assets to our program," head coach Dana Duckworth said. "Their knowledge and expertise give us an amazing boost in keeping our ladies healthy and strong."

The Tide's Performance and Nutrition staff's duties are broad-based, but the focus is specific to each program. With gymnastics, planning and insight has been very effective.

"For gymnasts, we want precise, confident fueling," Bragg said. "We want the appropriate amount of protein. We want good weight management through the season. We want our athletes to walk out and feel confident. We want maintenance of that muscle and body that we create in the offseason, so that power is maintained through the season."

RACHEL PFISTER

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR OF PERFORMANCE NUTRITION

Pfister, who works with the gymnastics program on a daily basis, works hand-in-hand with Duckworth and her staff to make sure that the gymnasts get exactly the fuel they need to be at their best throughout the season.

"Rachel and I have worked together to continue the plan we have put in place over the last two years that is focused on a balance of the mind, body and spirit which includes a focus on natural foods," Duckworth said. "I think it's important that we have fresh food for our ladies instead of relying on protein bars and supplements. I believe in it, I live by it and at the end of the day, the best lessons our ladies can learn is about proper fueling. They will carry those skills over into the next chapter of their lives after gymnastics and that is of paramount importance to me."

A 2014 graduate of LSU, Pfister joined the Tide after a dietetic internship at the Tulane School of Public Health and Tropical Medicine.

"Throughout the year the ladies go through diverse types of training and practices that require different nutrition," Pfister said. "Fueling elite athletes goes far beyond making sure they are eating fruits and vegetables. I work collectively with the staff to create nutrition goals that meet each gymnast's specific needs. My goal is to educate the gymnasts so that they know what their bodies need and the importance of good nutrition practices."

Pfister's ultimate goals go beyond the gymnasts' collegiate career.

"My hope is, together we will build a healthy relationship with food now, so in the future they can continue to practice good nutrition."

TEAM PHYSICIANS

DR. JIMMY ROBINSON

TEAM PHYSICIAN

When Dr. Jimmy Robinson discusses his work with the Alabama Crimson Tide, you can hear the excitement in his voice.

"When I was doing my residency, I got bit by the sports medicine bug," Robinson said. "The more I worked with the teams, the more I wanted to do this kind of medicine."

During his Family Practice Residency in Tuscaloosa, Robinson worked with the Crimson Tide athletics department and even traveled with the gymnastics team to Salt Lake City in 1988 and was on hand for the Tide's first ever NCAA Championship.

"It was a blast," Robinson said. "I was still in training and just getting interested in sports medicine. So to be out there with the gymnasts when they won the first championship Alabama has ever had outside of football, it was definitely an exciting moment."

After completing a fellowship in sports medicine at the Cleveland Clinic in Cleveland, Ohio, Robinson returned to Tuscaloosa and the Crimson Tide serving as the team physician for the Olympic Sports programs.

"I came back and opened a practice in August of 1989 and have been with the University ever since," Robinson said.

"Jimmy Robinson brings so much to our program in terms of his knowledge not just of sports medicine, but of gymnastics," Alabama head coach Dana Duckworth said. "He is an amazing resource when it comes to keeping our ladies healthy."

Robinson also oversees Alabama Athletics' team physician program, which also includes Dr. Craig Buettner, Dr.

Jeff Laubenthal, a former Crimson Tide baseball player and the husband of former UA gymnast Katherine Kelleher Laubenthal, and Dr. Ray Stewart, among others.

Robinson and his colleagues are involved in all levels of an athlete's healthcare, from the first physical of the year before an athlete can even start practice, to an exit physical at the end of an athlete's career, and everything in between. In addition to the attention of Robinson, Buettner, Laubenthal and Stewart, Alabama has several specialists on call including former Alabama quarterback Dr. Les Fowler who serves as the department's orthopedist.

Alabama athletes can also count on Dr. James Andrews who serves on the Tide's medical staff as a consultant. One of the world's foremost orthopedic surgeons, Andrews is internationally known and recognized for his scientific and clinical research contributions in knee, shoulder and elbow injuries and his skill as an orthopedic surgeon. Many of the world's outstanding athletes seek his expertise in sports injuries. His work with Andree Pickens' ruptured Achilles' tendon allowed her to not only compete her senior year but compete at a higher level than before the injury. Pickens led Alabama to the 2002 NCAA Championship and captured the NCAA uneven bars crown that same year.

In the fall of 2006, Andrews and Dr. Lyle Cain, another Alabama team physician, removed bone chips from both of Terin Humphrey's elbows, allowing her greater range of motion than she had in many years. Their expertise had Humphrey back in the lineup for the start of the season, and winning her second NCAA uneven bars championship by April of 2007.

GYMNASTICS ADMINISTRATIVE STAFF

For every minute that Alabama gymnastics shines in the white-hot spotlight of national success, there are thousands of behind-the-scene details that make it possible. For the Crimson Tide, there are two women charged with handling those details and keeping everything running smoothly. Rita Martin, the gymnastics operations director, and Robin Kelley, the Tide's administrative assistant, work hard every day to keep the Alabama gymnastics world shining bright and running like a well-oiled machine.

RITA

GYMNASTICS OPERATIONS

As director of gymnastics operations, Rita Martin is responsible for a wide variety of tasks, from daily paperwork to being the meet director for home events to coordinating the pre-meet light show that accompanies the gymnasts' entrance into Coleman Coliseum and everything in between.

The New Jersey native has been a part of the athletics department for more than 25 years and the University for more than 30. When former head coach Sarah Patterson added Associate Athletics Director to her list of duties in 1985, Martin became her assistant and when Dana Duckworth became the Tide's head coach in July 2014, Martin became her operations director.

"We are so thankful to have Rita on our staff," Duckworth said. "She brings so much to our program and keeps us on point at all times."

Martin earned the David Dutton Memorial Award, given to the individual who goes above and beyond for the program, in 1991.

Martin and her husband Buddy have a daughter Kelly, and two sons, Paul and Brett, all of whom are UA graduates.

ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT

Robin Kelley is in her 15th year as an administrative assistant with the gymnastics program, though she has been a part of the athletics department for the past 17 years.

The Northport, Ala., native performs a wide variety of duties, including keeping up with the program's correspondence and recruiting efforts. She also travels with the Tide, taking care of all the many details on the road.

"Robin is such a treasure," Dana Duckworth said. "She makes travel a breeze, taking care of everything and keeping us moving forward at all times."

Kelley was presented with the David Dutton Memorial Award, given to the individual who goes above and beyond for the program, in 2013.

Kelley and her husband Jay have two sons, Tanner, who is a University of Alabama graduate, and Jesse.

SEC ACADEMIC HONOR ROLL (10)

Abby Armbrecht, Mackenzie Brannan, Wynter Childers, Maddie Desch, Angelina Giancroce, Ari Guerra, Nickie Guerrero, Jennie Loeb, Shea Mahoney and Kiana Winston

As the 2018 Alabama gymnastics season gets underway, head coach Dana Duckworth is enthusiastic about the atmosphere in the Crimson Tide's practice facility, something derived from senior leadership.

"The ladies have a really exciting passion for this season," Duckworth said. "We knew we fell short of our goals at the end of last season, but isn't it amazing to be a part of a program where coming in sixth in the country isn't good enough? It's an honor, it's a privilege and we look at that and we're motivated by it."

Alabama's 2017 performance was solid, but not up to the program's standards. Consider for a moment what that means. The Crimson Tide, for the 19th consecutive year, finished among the top-three teams in the Southeastern Conference Championships, which means the team was in the hunt for the title in the final rotation; the team finished second in the NCAA Regional and advanced to the NCAA Championships for the 35th consecutive year, second only to Utah's 36; and advanced to the NCAA Super Six for the 23rd time in 25 years, including a string of 10 consecutive trips to the final day of championship competition, a streak that is unmatched by any collegiate gymnastics program in the nation.

The 2018 season brings new challenges. Gone are six seniors and nearly a dozen routines (out of 24), creating a void for a talented freshman class to fill. That group includes Kylie

Dickson, who competed for Belarus in the 2016 Olympics and 2015 World Championships; Lexi Graber, a 2016 Junior Olympics national vault champion who is recovering from ankle surgery; Bailey Key, a five-year member of the U.S. National team; and Alonza Klopfer, a 2016 Junior Olympics national beam champion.

"We have a very, very strong freshman class," Duckworth said. "We have a couple of freshmen that could make a big statement and a big splash early."

After a good showing in their rookie season, more is expected from this year's sophomores - Wynter Childers, Maddie Desch and Shea Mahoney. Desch earned All-SEC and SEC All-Freshman honors last season while Childers also earned SEC All-Freshman accolades. Joining the sophomore class this year is Peyton Ernst, who transferred from Florida and will be eligible to compete in January.

The Tide also returns a talented trio of juniors, including Abby Armbrecht, Angelina Giancroce and Aria Guerra, all of which are expected to contribute at an even higher level in their third season at the Capstone.

"It's going to be exciting because we have people, including all three juniors, who can step up this season," Duckworth said. "I look for Abby to have a breakout year. She is training smarter and more consistent than I've ever seen her do it. Ari is starting to pop a new vault that's exciting and we hope to have her on three events. Angelina is coming back slowly but surely from an Achilles injury. She was great on the uneven bars as a freshman and we're hoping to get her back in the lineup."

All-Americans Mackenzie Brannan, Kiana Winston and Nickie Guerrero, along with Jennie Loeb, are all back for their senior year and ready to rise even higher in their final seasons.

Winston is coming off a 2017 season that saw her lead the Tide with 49 routines in competition and 11 all-around performances. She and Guerrero both earned All-America honors as juniors, while Winston also won her second individual SEC Title.

Duckworth is encouraged by the four seniors who led their own team retreat and set a high standard off the floor as well with the team's 3.78 grade-point average, led by Brannan, a two-time Academic All-American.

As with every season, the journey through the 2018 season will be unique as the team develops with its own personality and vibe. One thing that is certain is the support of Crimson Tide fans, which again made Alabama gymnastics the second-highest attended team in women's gymnastics and third among all women's collegiate sports, averaging 12,152 fans per event in 2017.

"We have six home meets, plus we're hosting NCAA Regionals," Duckworth said. "We're going to have seven meets here and our fans are difference makers. We really want them to buy season tickets and be a part of our journey because this is going to be a fun team to watch."

In fact, the Crimson Tide's Alabama-based fans will have plenty of chances to see gymnastics this season. In addition to six regular-season home meets and the Tuscaloosa-based NCAA Regional championships, which will all be held in Coleman Coliseum, two additional meets, both against Auburn, will be held on different sides of the state. The Tide's Feb. 23 meet against the Tigers will be in Auburn while the March 9 meet against AU will be the fourth-annual Elevate the Stage meet, which will be held in Huntsville, Ala. It will mark the first Alabama gymnastics meet held in Huntsville, known as the "Rocket City."

The regular season will include just three meets out of the state - the opener at Michigan, at LSU (Jan. 19) and at Florida (Feb. 9).

Outside of the NCAA Regional in Tuscaloosa, the postseason will be centralized in Missouri this season with both the SEC Championships (March 24) and NCAA Championships (April 20-21) being held in St. Louis, Mo. It will be the second year in a row that the NCAA championships will be held in the home of the Arch and the first for the SEC Championships.

No matter the location though, the Crimson Tide's goal for the season remains the same.

"Our path is different every year, but our goal never wavers," Duckworth said. "We want to be on the floor the last night of the season, with a chance to win. Everything we do throughout the year builds to that."

TRAVELING IN STYLE WITH THE CRIMSON TIDE

Oh, the places they'll go! An Alabama gymnast will travel far and wide during her Crimson Tide tenure and will get there in style. Alabama travels to the vast majority of its competitions by charter plane, keeping time away from home to a minimum. Chartering also allows head coach Dana Duckworth to adjust departure times to best accommodate her student-athletes' class schedules.

Nothing brings a team together like time on the road. Time on the plane is spent studying, reading, listening to music and watching movies. Time is also spent chatting, singing and generally having a good time.

Just to make sure everything runs smoothly on a trip, a travel card is handed out before the Tide sets off for the Tuscaloosa Airport, detailing the schedule, what to wear and other important information.

During the regular season, once the plane touches down, a bus comes plane-side to pick the Tide up and take them to the hotel. The team then makes its way to a team dinner, usually at a well-known local restaurant that has the kind of variety where the gymnasts, coaches and staff can sample local cuisine or personal favorites.

Back at the hotel after dinner, everyone goes their own way, some back to their room to study or chat, some gathering in one room or another to watch a movie.

Breakfast usually finds everyone on their own, after which there is a trip to the mall arranged for those who want to hit the shops.

Team lunch starts the pre-meet ritual, with the Tide taking over a section of a local restaurant or having the meal catered at the hotel. After the competition, the bus takes Alabama back to the airport, where the charter plane stands ready to whisk them back to Tuscaloosa.

On longer trips, especially during the postseason, Alabama travels with its massage therapist, allowing them to get massages in preparation for competition.

While many trips find the Tide flying in and out of town for a meet, the trips are sometimes stretched to accommodate some exploring.

In eight of the past 12 years, trips to the West Coast have allowed Alabama to see the sites, including stops in Seattle, and a trip to the Space Needle and the exterior set of "Grey's Anatomy," San Francisco, for cable car rides and wandering around Fisherman's Wharf, and Los Angeles, with tours of Hollywood and a walk on the red carpet at Sony Studios.

The gymnasts aren't the only ones hitting the road for away meets. The Tide has a dedicated group of family, friends and fans who follow them from one end of the country to the other. There is never a meet that doesn't see some crimson and white-clad fans in the stands. And for those that can't make it to an away meet, the Tide utilizes different websites and social media platforms to keep its fan base around the world informed of all things Alabama gymnastics.

The Crimson Tide enjoyed another strong season in 2017, earning another top-six finish at the NCAA Championships, its 19th-consecutive top-three finish at the Southeastern Conference Championships and its 35th NCAA Championship appearance in a row. Individually, Katie Bailey won Alabama's 27th NCAA Championship, taking top honors on the uneven bars. Crimson Tide gymnasts earned 12 All-America honors as well as a school-record 19 Scholastic All-America accolades and numerous other titles and honors.

Here are just a few of the highlights from 2017:

ALABAMA AT THE NCAA CHAMPIONSHIPS

The gymnastics team made its 35th consecutive appearance at the NCAA Championships in 2017, taking sixth place. Only Utah, with 36 bids, has been to more and only Florida has been to as many, though the Gators' total is not consecutive. The Tide is one of only six teams to win an NCAA title, earning national championships in 1988, 1991, 1996, 2002, 2011 and 2012. In 35 championship appearances, Alabama has finished first six times, second seven times, third 10 times and in the top six 33 times. Alabama has won 27 individual NCAA titles, including Katie Bailey's uneven bars title in 2017, and six all-around crowns overall. Tide gymnasts have earned 326 championship All-America honors.

2017 NCAA CHAMPIONS AND ALL-AMERICANS

On the way to making its NCAA-best 23rd NCAA Super Six appearance at the NCAA Championships, four Alabama gymnasts combined to bring home six championship All-America honors. The Crimson Tide's 2017 total pushes the program to 326 championship honors all time by 71 different gymnasts.

Katie Bailey, the 2017 NCAA uneven bars champion, earned first-team honors on the uneven bars. It marked the fourth year in a row that the senior from Kernersville, N.C., earned uneven bars All-America honors. She now has six All-America honors for her career. Kiana Winston capped her junior season with a trio of All-America accolades, earning first team in the all-around and second team on the uneven bars and floor exercise to give her five honors for her career. Aja Sims earned first team on the balance beam while Keely McNeer earned second team on the uneven bars.

In addition to the championship honors, for the second year in a row, a trio of Alabama gymnasts earned regular season All-America honors through the National Associate of Collegiate Gymnastics Coaches/Women. Sims, junior Nickie Guerrero and Winston all earned the regular-season accolade in 2017.

Guerrero earned first-team honors on the balance beam while Sims earned second-team honors on the floor exercise.

Winston was one of just three gymnasts in the nation to earn more than three All-America accolades in 2017. The Fort Worth, Texas, native earned first team in the all-around, balance beam and floor exercise, while taking second team on the uneven bars.

After earning regular season First Team All-America honors on the uneven bars as a sophomore, Winston now leads the Crimson Tide in regular season first-team honors with four in the five-year history of the award. She is tied with Crimson Tide standouts Lauren Beers and Kim Jacob for the career record with five combined first- and second-team accolades.

In all, eight Alabama gymnasts have earned 26 regular season All-America honors since the award's inception in 2013.

When considering regular and championship All-America honors combined, Alabama has had 72 gymnasts earn 352 All-America honors.

COSIDA ACADEMIC ALL-AMERICA

Mackenzie Brannan and Keely McNeer earned a place on the CoSIDA Academic All-America At-Large First Team in 2017. It is Brannan's second-consecutive Academic All-America honor and the first for McNeer.

The at-large team spans the sports of fencing, golf, gymnastics, ice hockey, lacrosse, rifle, skiing, swimming and diving, tennis, water polo, bowling, field hockey and rowing.

Brannan and McNeer both carry 4.0 grade point averages. Brannan is a four time All-American who has also earned a pair of NCAA regional titles while pursuing a psychology degree.

- Gymnastics led the Alabama Athletics Department in community service hours during the 2016-17 academic year.

A two-time All-American, McNeer is earning a degree in chemical engineering at the Capstone.

Alabama was the only school to put two student-athletes on the first team and one of eight schools to have two more honorees in 2017.

At least one Crimson Tide gymnast has earned a place on the women's at-large team in nine of the last 10 years and Alabama gymnasts have earned Academic All-America honors 22 times since 1987.

In addition to Brannan and McNeer, Alabama's put four men – swimmers Anton McKee, Connor Oslin, Pavel Romanov and Luke Kaliszak – on the at-large team, giving the Crimson Tide six overall honorees, the most in the nation this year. Over the last four years, the Tide's men and women have earned at-large honors an NCAA-best 21 times with the next closest school tallying 13 honors.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

Alabama gymnasts tallied a 3.776 team grade point average for the spring semester, with 17 of 19 gymnasts on the 2017 spring roster (Peyton Ernst joined Alabama in January) posting better than a 3.5 (and one 3.499) and all 19 earned a 3.0 or better.

In the fall, Alabama tallied a 3.6 team grade point average with 12 out of 18 gymnasts posting better than a 3.5 grade point average.

Overall, all 19 gymnasts on the Crimson Tide's roster in the spring earned Scholastic All-America honors, which requires a 3.5 or better GPA for the academic year or career.

PACKING THEM IN

Alabama gymnastics drew more than 10,000 fans for every home meet in 2017 with a final home average of 12,152.

The Tide's 2017 average puts them in rare company. Alabama, Utah gymnastics and South Carolina basketball were the only collegiate women's programs to average more than 12,000 fans per home contest in 2016-17.

In addition to being the only three to average over 12,000 fans, Alabama, Utah and South Carolina along with LSU gymnastics were the only collegiate women's programs to average more than 10,000 fans per contest at home in 2017.

The Tide once again led all Southeastern Conference gymnastics teams in attendance and was second among all conference women's programs just behind South Carolina basketball.

Alabama has drawn crowds of 10,000-plus 73 times since first breaking the 10,000 barrier on March 4, 1995, when 12,021 fans flooded Coleman Coliseum for a meet against Georgia.

KATIE BAILEY SOARS TO ALABAMA'S 27TH NCAA CHAMPIONSHIP

When Katie Bailey won the 2017 NCAA Uneven Bars Championship, it was more than her second national title, it was the culmination of a season-long comeback following preseason hip surgery. It also capped an amazing Crimson Tide career with an NCAA title on her specialty.

"To win a national championship on bars meant a lot to me because that's my favorite event," Bailey said. "And to have my team there cheering me on and my coaches by my side made it all the more special."

A four-year All-American on the uneven bars, the Kernersville, N.C., native won the NCAA vault championship as a junior. In all, she earned six All-America honors during her Alabama career.

Her vault title was Alabama's 26th, while her uneven bars championship bumped the Tide's all-time tally to 27. Bailey is the seventh UA gymnast to earn multiple NCAA titles - joining Penney Hauschild (4), Dana Duckworth (2), Andree Pickens (2), Ashley Miles (2), Terin Humphrey (2) and GERALEN Stack-Eaton (2).

She is also the fifth UA gymnast to win an NCAA uneven bars title, joining Hauschild (1985), Stephanie Woods (1996), Pickens (2002) and Humphrey (2005 and 2007).

In addition to her NCAA uneven bar title, Bailey won back-to-back Southeastern Conference uneven bars titles in 2016 and 2017. Her 2017 SEC uneven bars title marked Alabama's 15th in that event.

In a twist of fate, Alabama's first individual SEC title was on the uneven bars when Julie Garret won in 1982 and its first individual NCAA title came on the uneven bars when Hauschild won the 1985 championship.

MARY LILLIAN SANDERS: ROLL TIDE AND SEMPER FI

Coming out of high school in the spring of 2013, Prattville, Ala., native Mary Lillian Sanders made a four-year commitment to be a part of The University of Alabama gymnastics team. In the spring of 2017, standing in Coleman Coliseum, where she and her teammates competed over the life of her Crimson Tide career, she made another four-year commitment, this time to the United States Marine Corps.

"Gymnastics provided a foundation for me to have the discipline and the type of personality and drive that it takes to take on this kind of challenge," Sanders said. "That really launched me toward becoming a Marine and has really served me well. I owe a lot to gymnastics and The University of Alabama for my success in the Marines."

Sanders, a four-year Scholastic All-American during her Alabama career, stood in front of teammates, coaches and staff, family and friends as she was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the USMC. Her father, Bill Sanders, and her uncle, Kirk Sanders, both retired Marines, pinned her bars to her uniform. Her father also presented her with her Mameluke sword during the ceremony.

"I felt so honored to have all my friends and family who have been a part of my journey here today," Sanders said. "I've been looking forward to this day every single day since I made the decision that this is what I wanted to do."

Sanders, who finished her gymnastics career at the 2017 NCAA championships, graduated from Alabama in May 2017 with a degree in history.

During her gymnastics career, she was part of back-to-back Southeastern Conference championship teams in 2014 and 2015 as well as three NCAA regional championships in 2014, 2015 and 2016. Sanders and the Tide also posted four consecutive top-six NCAA finishes.

HOMECOMING WITH AN ALABAMA GYMNASTICS FLAIR

The University of Alabama's Homecoming celebration had a distinctly gymnastics feel to it in the fall of 2017. All-American Nickie Guerrero got things started as the MC for the annual Choreography Competition held in Coleman Coliseum.

All-American and Academic All-American Mackenzie Brannan joined Guerrero in the Homecoming festivities when she was selected as the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee's nominee for the Homecoming Court. The Austin, Texas, native then earned a spot on the five-member court via a campus-wide student vote.

Brannan, along with the rest of the court, were introduced during a pep rally on the Friday night prior to the Homecoming game. She then took part in the Homecoming parade on Saturday, before being recognized during halftime of the Alabama-Arkansas football game.

Guerrero's and Brannan's participation in the Homecoming activities carries a long-standing Alabama gymnastics tradition when it comes to the annual fall event. Head coaches Sarah Patterson and Dana Duckworth both served as Grand Marshals of the Homecoming parade. With Brannan's selection, she joins Meredith Willard, Morgan Dennis and Lauren Beers as Alabama gymnasts who have been voted to UA's Homecoming court over the years.

A TRADITION OF EXCELLENCE — A LEGACY OF CHAMPIONS

It started quietly. The University of Alabama's brand-new gymnastics squad, under the direction of Riki Sutton that first year, came together in the fall of 1974 and would compete for the first time in January of 1975. That first team finished third at the state championships and sixth at the regionals. Through the first four seasons of the program there are four different coaches and no winning seasons, and there is talk about discontinuing the program. That talk will come to an abrupt halt soon though, because things are about to get better for the young program, much, much better.

In the summer of 1978, "Grease" reigned at the box office and ABBA's "Take a Chance on Me" filled dance floors coast to coast. "Laverne and Shirley" was the most popular TV series on the air, though it was in re-runs. It is the summer of 1978 and things are about to turn around for the Crimson Tide, because Sarah Patterson has said yes.

She didn't ask about salary, or facilities or equipment. When the letter came asking if she would be Alabama's head coach, Patterson, all of 22 years old and just out of Slippery Rock State College, gave the Crimson Tide an emphatic and unequivocal "yes."

Her first move as Alabama's coach was to hire David Patterson, coming out of his freshman year as a Crimson Tide diver, as an assistant coach. The couple, married in 1984, then turned to the task at hand, taking a team without a winning season and creating a juggernaut that has performed at the highest conceivable level for more than three decades.

The adventures along the way came fast and furious. Sarah found herself explaining to her boss Paul "Bear" Bryant, the Tide's legendary football coach and athletics director, why a wrestling mat with a hole in the middle wouldn't do as a floor exercise mat.

"Once I explained what we needed," Sarah Patterson said, "Coach Bryant told Coach Sam Bailey (Bryant's right-hand man administratively) to get us what we needed. Coach Bryant wanted all our sports to be winners and he was willing to provide us with the tools."

And the facilities that Sarah hadn't asked about when taking the job, started with Foster Auditorium, where the Tide shared its practice space with the volleyball team.

"It was interesting," David Patterson said. "Every once in a while you'd have a stray volleyball come zinging through practice. Before every practice we'd have to set up all the equipment and the mats and at the end of every practice we'd have to break it all down again."

Things progressed quickly though. Prior to their first season, Sarah and David scoured the dorms on campus looking for anyone with tumbling experience, just so they could fill their lineup. They were tough, doing some far more important recruiting farther afield.

In signing their first class, Sarah and David made one basic promise to their recruits. They promised the freshmen of 1980 that they would go to the national championships.

"The first real defining moment of our program was the first year we went to NCAA's," Sarah said. "Our first recruiting class was in their senior year. We had promised them that we would make it to NCAA's. In their junior year, we finished 11th and they took 10 teams. At the end of 1982, we all knew that we had one year to fulfill our commitment to these ladies. Seeing it happen their senior year, making it to the NCAA Championships — I couldn't have been prouder."

One promise fulfilled and another goal on the horizon. Sarah and David built their program, almost from scratch on the simple premise that Alabama would develop the whole person instead of just the athlete. From the beginning, Patterson-coached student-athletes excelled not only in the gym, but in the classroom as well. And beyond that, they developed lives outside of both. By the mid-1980s, the Pattersons began to wonder if their system would take the Tide to a national championship. They began to wonder if the Tide could truly have the best of all worlds.

The answer came as another emphatic yes in 1988 when the Tide won its first Southeastern Conference and NCAA championships.

"Before '88, I think sometimes we looked back and said, 'Maybe you can't have this philosophy of developing the whole person and be number one,'" Sarah Patterson said. "When we won, it was a validation of that philosophy. We could do it this way and be successful on all fronts. We may not win every year, but we will be successful."

And just to prove that 1988 was no fluke, the Pattersons led the Tide to NCAA titles in 1991, 1996, 2002, 2011 and 2012. Under their direction, Alabama is the only gymnastics program to win NCAA championships in four different decades.

Everything else has progressed as well. Alabama is also one of the nation's top academic programs, earning a national-best 19 NCAA Postgraduate Scholarships and over 300 SEC Academic Honor Roll honors. And long gone are the days of stray volleyballs flying through practice. Since 1996, the Tide has trained in a state-of-the-art practice facility dedicated to gymnastics alone.

The fan base has grown by leaps and bounds as well. Alabama gymnastics is one of the top draws in women's collegiate athletics, averaging a school and SEC-record 13,786 fans in 2010 and ranked second in the nation for all women's sports in 2014, 2013 and 2011 and third in 2012, 2015 and 2016. That wasn't always the case, though.

"In the early days, we'd have three dozen people and two dozen would be Ann Wood's family and friends," Sarah Patterson said.

Most importantly to all involved is that the student-athletes who helped turn Alabama into a national powerhouse have themselves developed into outstanding women making a difference in the world around them. The Tide's all-time roster is filled with doctors, lawyers, mothers and executives all excelling at the highest level.

"We are so proud of all the ladies who have come through our program and every championship won and every honor earned," Sarah Patterson said. "But more than anything, we are proud of the tremendously rich and full lives they go on to lead after graduation. To have been a small part of their success is a great thrill."

Things certainly changed, grew and blossomed since those first days of Alabama gymnastics success. Fast forward to the summer of 2014 and "Scandal," "The Voice" and "Modern Family" were keeping everyone glued to the small screens, while super heroes, including the X-Men, Captain America and the Guardians of the Galaxy, reigned supreme on the big screen, filling the theaters. On the radio, the ladies ruled the charts with Nicki Minaj, Ariana Grande and Iggy Azalea leading the way.

The summer of 2014 also saw a passing of the torch as Sarah and David Patterson — after helping the little program that couldn't quite find its feet in the 1970s win six NCAA championships, eight Southeastern Conference crowns, 29 NCAA Regional titles, 25 individual NCAA championships and earn 302 All-America honors — stepped down from coaching and Dana (Dobransky) Duckworth, who grew up in the program as an NCAA champion, volunteer coach and assistant coach took up the challenge of carrying the Tide into the future.

Embracing the mindset that created more than just one of the nation's best overall athletic programs, but a family that stretches back to the class of 1975 through the freshmen of 2018, Duckworth continues a philosophy that echoes another top song from 1978, this one by Sister Sledge, one that perfectly sums up Alabama gymnastics, "We are family ... I got all my sisters and me ..."

GREAT MOMENTS IN ALABAMA GYMNASTICS HISTORY

On October 14, 2017, for the fifth time in program history, an Alabama gymnast is recognized at halftime of a Crimson Tide football game as a member of the UA Homecoming Court when Mackenzie Brannan is escorted to midfield of Bryant-Denny Stadium by her father Ron. The University of Alabama Homecoming Court is selected by a campus-wide vote of current UA students.

BUILT BY BAMA

On July 25, 2017, the Crimson Tide sets an amazing school record when every member of its largest team (19 strong for the spring semester following the addition of Peyton Ernst in January) earns Scholastic All-America honors, a total that leads the nation. The Crimson Tide's total shatters the previous mark of 14 set in 2011 and matched in 2016. To be a Scholastic All-American, a gymnast must have a 3.5 or better GPA either for the previous academic year, or for their career. The Crimson Tide also posted the highest team grade point average of any school that advanced to the NCAA Championships Super Six Team Final after earning a 3.6 GPA. The Crimson Tide's team GPA also led the Southeastern Conference schools by nearly two-tenths of a point.

On June 29, 2017, it is announced that Keely McNeer has earned a prestigious NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship. It is the 20th NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship to go to a Crimson Tide Gymnast and the 10th since the 2010 season. Both totals lead all collegiate gymnastics programs.

On April 14, 2017, Katie Bailey soars through the air, winning Alabama's 27th individual NCAA Championship when she earns top honors on her specialty, the uneven bars. It marks her second individual national title after winning the vault in 2016. With the win, Bailey is the seventh UA gymnast to win two or more individual NCAA title. It is also Alabama's sixth NCAA uneven bars titles.

On April 1, 2017, Aja Sims wins Alabama's 100th individual NCAA regional championship since the 1997 regional championship, when she took top honors on the floor exercise with a 9.95. It also marked the 34th-consecutive year that Alabama gymnastics has won at least one individual regional title.

On June 30, 2016, the conference record holder when it comes to the most Southeastern Conference Academic Honor Roll accolades earned by a gymnastics program since the award's inception, Alabama breaks its own single season record when all 18 gymnasts on the 2016 team set the league record for honors in a single year, boosting the Alabama and SEC all-time record to 310.

On April 15, 2016, for the first time in the history of the NCAA Gymnastics Championships, individual national titles are decided on the first day of competition, as the 12 teams vie for a spot in the Super Six Team finals. As Alabama begins its fourth and final event of the evening, the vault, junior Katie Bailey sweeps down the runway and onto the top of the awards podium, posting a career-best 9.95 to win the 2016 NCAA vault championship. It is the 26th individual national title for the Tide and the fifth vault championship.

On June 9, 2016, Lauren Beers not only becomes the second Alabama gymnast to earn a place on the CoSIDA Academic All-America At-Large Team three times in a career (joining Kassie Price), but she is named the At-Large Team's Academic All-American of the Year, marking the 10th time an Alabama student-athlete has earned the that highly coveted honor, and the fourth time a Crimson Tide gymnast has earned the highly coveted accolade (Kim Jacob, 2014, Kayla Hoffman, 2011 and Stephanie Kite, 2005).

On Oct. 18, 2015, Kim Jacob is honored as one of 10 Division I finalist for the 2015 NCAA Woman of the Year at a banquet held in Indianapolis, Ind. She is the 10th Crimson Tide gymnast to be honored by the NCAA Woman of the Year program.

On a very busy Oct. 10, 2015, Dana Duckworth is the second Crimson Tide gymnastics coach to serve as Grand Marshal of Alabama's Homecoming Court and Lauren Beers is the fourth UA gymnast to be voted onto the Homecoming court.

GREAT MOMENTS IN ALABAMA GYMNASTICS HISTORY

On March 21, 2015, for the first time in more than three and a half decades, the Alabama gymnastics team walks into the Southeastern Conference Championships with a new head coach. The result was a familiar one though, as Dana Duckworth led the Crimson Tide to its second consecutive SEC title and ninth overall. Alabama starts strong with an All-SEC performance in the leadoff spot on balance beam by sophomore Keely McNeer. Senior Kaitlyn Clark, who also earned All-SEC honors on the balance beam, wins the second individual SEC title of her career, taking first on the vault. Junior dynamo Carley Sims turns in an All-SEC routine on the floor exercise and just like that, for the second year in a row, it comes down to the uneven bars. In 2014, it took a huge 9.975 routine from Clark in the anchor position to close out the Tide's victory. In 2015, junior Lauren Beers, who earned All-SEC honors in the all-around, locks up the Tide's title in the fifth spot of the uneven bars, giving Alabama its fourth SEC Championship in the past seven years. Seniors Hunter Dennis, Lora Leigh Frost and Kayla Williams, sophomores Katie Bailey, Amanda Jetter, Dominique Pegg, Mary Lillian Sanders, Aja Sims and Mackenzie Valentin and freshmen Mackenzie Brannan, Nickie Guerrero, Jennie Loeb and Kiana Winston round out the Tide's championship roster.

On Feb. 13, 2015, during the Crimson Tide's meet against Boise State, more than 80 Alabama gymnastics alumni joined with 11,000-plus fans to honor the newest members of the Tide's alumni family - Sarah and David Patterson. Surrounded by their championship legacy, the Pattersons were then honored for 36 years of Crimson Tide excellence. Later in the evening, David Patterson, a 1982 Crimson Tide graduate is honored by The Medalist Club with the 2015 Distinguished Alumni Award.

From 1974 to 1978, Alabama hired five head gymnastics coaches to the tune of one a year. After that rapid succession of mentors, it would be 36 years before the Crimson Tide would need to make another hire. On July 15, 2014, Dana Dobransky Duckworth is introduced as the Tide's head coach by Director of Athletics Bill Battle with the charge of leading the gymnastics program into the future and continuing the tradition of excellence and legacy of champions that she was instrumental in building as a gymnast, volunteer coach and assistant coach for Alabama. The Michigan native's championship resume includes NCAA Team Championships in all phases of her career and winning individual NCAA gold as a gymnast and choreographing several NCAA Championship floor exercise routines during her tenure as both a volunteer and full-time assistant coach. Duckworth says the basis of the Crimson Tide's success will remain unchanged - "Our goal remains the same: a family environment, in which we will continue to develop scholars, leaders and champions."

On April 4, 2015, Alabama wins its 30th regional championship, the most in NCAA history, with a 197.575 at the NCAA Auburn Regional Championship. The Crimson Tide also sweeps the individual events, led by Lauren Beers' all-around victory.

In addition to leading Alabama to back-to-back Southeastern Conference titles for the first time in program history, on March 21, 2015 Dana Duckworth becomes the only gymnastics coach in league history to win an SEC title in her inaugural season as head coach. She is the sixth different coach to lead a team to an SEC title and with her win, Alabama is one of just two programs to have two different coaches (Duckworth and Sarah Patterson) win SEC gymnastics titles, with Florida (Ernestine Weaver and Rhonda Faehn) being the other.

The nation's top collegiate female athlete (Honda Cup) and the top NCAA Division I scholar (Capital One Academic All-America of the Year), adds yet another huge honor to the seemingly endless list on November 20, 2014 when it is announced that Kim Jacob has earned the NCAA Top 10 Award. She is the fifth Alabama gymnast to earn the elusive honor that recognizes the top-10 senior student-athletes - regardless of sport, gender or NCAA division - who have completed their athletic eligibility for their success in competition, in the classroom and in the community.

Among the most accomplished gymnasts in Alabama's storied history, All-Americans and Scholastic All-Americans Sarah DeMeo, Kim Jacob and Diandra Milliner extend their championship legacy on May 12, 2014 when all three added NCAA Postgraduate Scholarships to their long list of accolades. The 2014 seniors are the first class in Alabama gymnastics history to collect three of the prestigious scholarships. The 2014 honors up the Tide gymnastics' NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship tally to 18 since Julie Garrett earned the first in 1983, the most of any program in the nation. Jacob also earned a Southeastern Postgraduate Scholarship, giving Alabama gymnastics 11 since Dr. Julie Estin Vaughn brought home the first in 1987.

Already honored as the nation's top gymnast and the top collegiate woman athlete, on July 31, 2014, Kim Jacob is honored as the top scholar-athlete – regardless of sport or gender – when she is named the 2013-14 Capital One Division I Academic All-American of the Year, as selected by the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA). A two-time member of the Academic All-American At-Large Team, Jacob is just the second gymnast to earn the singular award.

Winner of the 2014 Honda Award for Gymnastics – given annually to the nation's top gymnast – Kim Jacob is presented the 40th annual Honda Cup on June 30, 2014 as the Collegiate Woman Athlete of the Year in Los Angeles during the live awards broadcast on the CBS Sports Network. Jacob is the first Crimson Tide athlete and just the third gymnast in the history of the award to win the Honda Cup. Jacob was one of 12 women from 12 different sports under consideration for the prestigious accolade that honors the best collegiate NCAA Division I female athlete in the nation over the past academic year.

Kim Jacob, the Crimson Tide's quiet superstar, uses a career-best score on April 18, 2014 to win Alabama's sixth NCAA all-around championship and 25th individual NCAA title overall. Her 39.625 paces the Crimson Tide its 20th NCAA Super Six Team Final.

When Alabama wins the 2014 NCAA Seattle Regional Championship on April 5, 2014, it is not only Alabama's NCAA-record 29th regional title, but it also marks Sarah and David Patterson's 1,000th career win. The duo makes it to 1,000 career wins faster than anyone in the history of collegiate gymnastics, notching their total in the 12th meet of their 36th year.

On March 22, 2014, in front of a heavily partisan Birmingham-based crowd, Alabama wins its eighth Southeastern Conference Championship and the final one under legendary coaches Sarah and David Patterson. Alabama started strong on the balance beam and close with a fantastic finish on the uneven bars, led by junior Kaitlyn Clark who won the uneven bars title with a 9.975. Senior Diandra Milliner took home two titles with a 9.975 on the vault and a 9.950 on the floor exercise. In addition Milliner, senior Kim Jacob and freshman Aja Sims earned All-SEC honors. Sims, Katie Bailey and Amanda Jetter earned SEC All-Freshman accolades. Seniors Sarah DeMeo, Ria Domier and Lindsey Fowler, juniors Hunter Dennis, Lora Leigh Frost and Kayla Williams, sophomores Lauren Beers and Carley Sims, freshman Keely McNeer, Dominique Pegg and Mary Lillian Sanders round out the Tide's championship roster.

GREAT MOMENTS IN ALABAMA GYMNASTICS HISTORY

🎯 Earning an NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship is nothing new for the Crimson Tide gymnasts, but on May 21, 2013, Ashley Priess and Ashley Sledge break new ground, becoming the first duo to earn the prestigious award in the same year. It was Sledge's second NCAA Scholarship, after earning an NCAA Ethnic Minority and Women's Enhancement Scholarship earlier in the spring. With Priess and Sledge accounting for three NCAA scholarships in one month, Alabama's total rises to 15 since Julie Garrett earned the first in 1983.

🎯 When Alabama gymnastics wins its NCAA Championships Semifinals session on April 19, 2013, the Crimson Tide advanced to the Super Six Team Finals for the 19th time since the format's inception in 1993, breaking a tie with Utah for the most Super Six appearances. Alabama broke away from the pack in terms of Super Six appearances by being the only team in the nation to advance to team finals every year between 2009-13.

🎯 Diandra Milliner opens her junior season with a 9.925 on the vault at Missouri, a score she matches on April 21, 2013 with her last vault of the year. The difference is this last vault, a Yurchenko one and a half, wins the Wichita, Kan., native the 2013 NCAA Vault Championship. It is the Crimson Tide's 24th individual national title and fourth on the vault.

🎯 In what has quickly become an annual occurrence, Kim Jacob picks up Alabama's fourth consecutive NCAA Elite 90 Award during the NCAA Championship Banquet on April 18, 2013 in Los Angeles, Calif. In the four-year history of the award, which goes to the student-athlete at each of the NCAA's 89 championships with the highest cumulative grade point average, the Crimson Tide is the only women's gymnastics program to win the award.

🎯 After years of planning and months of construction, the Sarah Patterson Champions Plaza officially opens on October 4, 2013 when the Crimson Tide's legendary gymnastics coach and the plaza's namesake cuts the ceremonial ribbon. The beautiful monument highlights not just Sarah and David Patterson's championship legacy, which includes six NCAA Championships and eight Southeastern Conference Championships, but Alabama's championship heritage in all its varsity sports. The plaza, located in front of Coleman Coliseum, includes brick and precision concrete plaques that honor each of Alabama's varsity sports and their history. There is special recognition of Alabama's NCAA and SEC Championship teams and its national championship coaches, all of which are on hand for the plaza's dedication.

🎯 Already on track to graduate in four years with a bachelor's and master's degree in chemical engineering with matching 4.0 grade point averages, junior Ria Domier solidifies her amazing academic standing on April 12, 2013, when she is named a Goldwater Scholar, earning a prestigious $7,500 a year Goldwater Scholarship. The 2013 Goldwater Scholars were selected on the basis of academic merit from a field of 1,107 mathematics, science and engineering students nominated by the faculties of colleges and universities nationwide.

🎯 Geralen Stack-Eaton closes out her amazing Crimson Tide career by winning her second individual NCAA Championship and Alabama's 23rd overall on April 22, 2012, by taking top honors on the balance beam. The Horsham, Pa., native also finishes second on the floor exercise after winning the event in 2011. She is the sixth Alabama gymnast to win multiple national titles and the fourth to win NCAA gold on two different apparatus.

🎯 In a scenario that feels familiar, Alabama goes into the final rotation of the NCAA Championships on April 21, 2012, within .025 of the Florida Gators, with one team headed to the balance beam and the other to the floor exercise. But unlike the year before, when Alabama finished off its fifth NCAA title on the floor exercise to beat a UCLA team that finished out on the balance beam, this time it was the Crimson Tide headed to the beam and instead of leading by .025, as it had in 2011, Alabama trailed Florida by the smallest margin possible. The final outcome was the same though, as Alabama posted a 49.5 to beat the Gators by .075 and third-place UCLA by a tenth of a point, the smallest margin between first and third in NCAA history. It marks the first time that Alabama has won back-to-back national titles. The Tide's victory is assured by redshirt junior Ashley Priess, who scores a 9.95 in the final routine of the championship. It was a fitting finish for the Wheaton, Ill., native who was sidelined during Alabama's 2011 championship run following surgery on both ankles. A total of eight Tide gymnasts – Geralen Stack-Eaton, Priess, juniors Marissa Gutierrez and Ashley Sledge, sophomores Kim Jacob, Diandra Milliner and Sarah DeMeo and freshman Kayla Williams – earn 16 All-America honors. Senior Rachel Terry, junior Becca Alexin, sophomores Olivia Carisella, Ria Domier, Lindsey Fowler and Hannah Toussaint and freshmen Kaitlyn Clark, Hunter Dennis, Lora Leigh Frost and Brooke Parker round out Alabama's championship team.

When Rachel Terry accepts the NCAA Elite 90 Award on April 19, 2012, during the NCAA Championships banquet in Duluth, Ga., she became the first gymnast to earn the award twice. The Hoover, Ala., native's two-year reign in 2011 and 2012 also keeps the award, which is presented annually to the student-athlete with the highest cumulative grade point average participating at the finals site for each of the NCAA championships, exclusive to the Crimson Tide after Kassi Price won the inaugural award in 2010. Terry, who carried a perfect 4.0 GPA for her career, graduated from the Capstone with a degree in early childhood education in May 2012, as both an All-American and Scholastic All-American.

On her way to being one of the most decorated student-athletes in Alabama history, Kayla Hoffman adds SEC Female Athlete of the Year honors to her resume when SEC Commissioner Mike Slive hands her the honor at the SEC Legends Dinner on December 2, 2011. She is the fifth Crimson Tide gymnast and sixth Alabama athlete to earn the award.

Every year, athletics directors around the country select the nation's top senior student-athletes, regardless of gender or NCAA division, and honor them with the NCAA Today's Top VIII Award. On November 1, 2011, the NCAA announces that Kayla Hoffman is the fourth Crimson Tide gymnast to earn the award, which recognizes senior student-athletes who have completed their athletic eligibility for their success in competition, in the classroom and in the community.

Kayla Hoffman reaps the rewards of a truly remarkable senior season when she is named the 2011 Honda Award winner on April 27, 2011. She is the sixth UA gymnast to win the honor that annually recognizes the nation's best gymnast.

Already named the Bryant Award Winner, given annually to the athletic department's top student-athlete, the SEC Gymnast of the Year, the SEC Gymnastics Scholar-Athlete of the Year and the NCAA Central Region Gymnast of the Year, Kayla Hoffman adds to her growing list of honors on June 9, 2011, when she not only earns First Team Academic All-America honors, but is also honored as the Capital One/CoSIDA Academic All-American of the Year. Hoffman is the second Alabama gymnast to earn the accolade, joining 2004 honoree Stephanie Kite.

An extraordinary weekend in Cleveland, Ohio, turns golden all over again on April 17, 2011, when Gerald Stack-Eaton follows up the Crimson Tide's team win the day before with the NCAA Floor Exercise Championship. It is the junior's fourth postseason title of the year and Alabama's 22nd individual national title.

GREAT MOMENTS IN ALABAMA GYMNASTICS HISTORY

Alabama goes into the final rotation of the NCAA Championships leading UCLA by the slightest margin and comes out on the other side as national champions on April 16, 2011, in Cleveland, Ohio. The Crimson Tide starts the meet with the highest scoring vault rotation of the day and finishes with the highest floor exercise score led by junior Geralen Stack-Eaton's 9.925 and senior Kayla Hoffman's 9.95. Leading the Bruins by just .025 going into the final rotation, Alabama ends up winning by more than a quarter of a point, posting a 197.650, its second-highest score of the season, to UCLA's 197.375. In addition to giving Alabama its fifth NCAA title, the victory, coming on the heels of SEC and NCAA Regional titles, also caps the Tide's second championship "triple crown." Seven Alabama gymnasts earn 13 All-America honors led by Stack-Eaton's four honors and Hoffman's three. Freshman Kim Jacob earns a pair of All-America honors while sophomores Marissa Gutierrez and Ashley Sledge along with rookies Sarah DeMeo and Diandra Milliner all earn one each. Seniors Alyssa Chapman and Megan Mashburn, juniors Rachel Terry and Ashley Priess, sophomore Becca Alexin and freshmen Olivia Carisella, Ria Domier, Lindsey Fowler, Jordan Moore and Hannah Toussaint are also part of Alabama's championship team.

On March 19, 2011, for the second time in three years and seventh time overall, the Alabama Crimson Tide raises the Southeastern Conference Championship trophy aloft. Starting on the uneven bars, Alabama got better with every rotation and was led by junior Geralen Stack-Eaton, who won the balance beam and floor exercise titles, and senior Kayla Hoffman, who won the vault title with a 9.95. In addition to Stack-Eaton and Hoffman, who both earned first team All-SEC honors, sophomores Marissa Gutierrez and Ashley Sledge both earn second team honors while rookies Sarah DeMeo, Kim Jacob and Diandra Milliner earn both second team and SEC All-Freshman accolades. Seniors Alyssa Chapman and Megan Mashburn, juniors Rachel Terry and Ashley Priess, sophomore Becca Alexin, and freshmen Olivia Carisella, Ria Domier, Lindsey Fowler, Jordan Moore and Hannah Toussaint round out the Tide's championship roster.

On March 19, 2011, Kayla Hoffman kicks her senior season into high gear when she becomes the first student-athlete in league history to win both SEC Gymnast of the Year and the SEC Gymnastics Scholar-Athlete of the Year honors in the same season.

More than 13,000 fans came to the Crimson Tide's first Power of Pink meet in 2005 followed by an Alabama and SEC record 15,162 fans the next year. That second Power of Pink meet also saw the first check presentation to the DCH Breast Cancer Fund – $90,000. A fast five years later, the proceeds of the 2010 Tuscaloosa Toyota/DCH Foundation Golf Classic and the fifth Nite on the Green fund raisers in October push the DCH Breast Cancer Fund to a major milestone. On Feb. 19, 2011, prior to the start of the seventh annual Power of Pink meet, a check for $1 million dollars, representing the total raised for the DCH Breast Cancer Fund since its inception, is presented to the DCH Foundation in front of 14,000-plus cheering fans.

It has become such a Crimson Tide habit that it is doubtful many fans noticed when on April 10, 2010, Alabama passed another milestone, winning its 25th NCAA Regional title. On the way to the victory, which propelled the Tide to its 28th consecutive NCAA Championship appearance, UA gymnasts swept the individual events with sophomores Geralen Stack-Eaton and Ashley Priess taking first and second respectively in the all-around. Only four times since NCAA competition began in 1982, has Alabama not won a regional team title, and all four times the Tide was second.

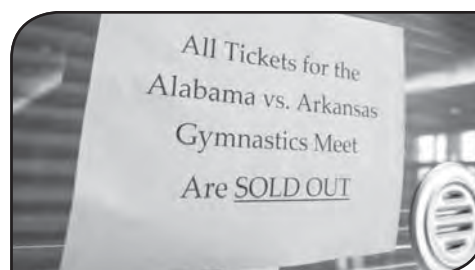

Kassi Price, who earned countless academic honors during her Crimson Tide career, takes home the inaugural NCAA Elite 88 Award on April 24, 2010. The honor, which Sarah Patterson called the culminating honor of Price's career, is presented to the student-athlete with the highest cumulative grade point average participating at the finals site for each of the NCAA's 88 championships. Price receives the award at the NCAA Championship Awards Brunch, during which she is also recognized with her third uneven bars All-America honor.

In another first, Kassi Price becomes the first Alabama student-athlete to earn a place on the prestigious CoSIDA Academic All-America At-Large Team three times in a career when she is named to the first team on May 20, 2010. The at-large team spans 13 women's sports, including bowling, rowing, fencing, field hockey, golf, gymnastics, ice hockey, lacrosse, rifle, skiing, swimming and diving, tennis and water polo.

Forged in the fire of a tough regular season, Alabama's team starts to peak at just the right time and on March 21, 2009, with a total team performance, Alabama wins its sixth Southeastern Conference Championship. The Crimson Tide starts the meet in Nashville, Tenn. with the best vault score of the meet and never lets up, finishing off with a 197.300, to beat second-place Georgia by nearly four-tenths of a point. Junior Morgan Dennis opens the meet by winning the SEC vault title and finishes off the Tide's title with a win on the floor exercise. She earns All-SEC honors for the third year in a row. Junior Ricki Lebegern, sophomore Kayla Hoffman and freshman Ashley Priess all earn second team All-SEC honors while rookies Priess, Geralen Stack-Eaton and Caitlin Sullivan make up more than half of the SEC All-Freshman list. Seniors Brittany Magee, Amanda Montgomery and Ashley O'Neal, juniors Alyssa Chapman, Casey Overton, Kassi Price and Jacqueline Shealy, sophomore Megan Mashburn along with freshmen Jocelyn Fowler, Erika Pearson and Rachel Terry all do their part to bring home the big trophy to Tuscaloosa.

Being first is not new to Barbara Mack Harding. As an Alabama gymnast in the early 1980s, she was the first, and to date only, freshman to be chosen captain of a Sarah Patterson coached team. She also led Alabama to its first NCAA Championship appearance as a sophomore in 1983. Harding was among Alabama's first All-Americans and NCAA Regional and SEC Champions. And on September 6, 2008, she led the way again, becoming the first female to be honored with the Paul W. Bryant Alumni-Athlete Award, which recognizes those outstanding alumni whose accomplishments since leaving the Capstone represent excellence in the areas of character, contributions to society, professional achievement and service to their community. It wasn't the first time that Harding was honored with an award bearing the name of Alabama's legendary football coach, who won six national championships with the Crimson Tide during his 25-year Alabama career. She was the inaugural winner of the Paul W. Bryant Scholar-Athlete Award as a senior in 1985.

When Alabama sells out its 2008 meeting with Georgia, it is exciting, but nothing new. The Tide has sold out one meet each of the two previous seasons and three times prior to the 2008 season, but on Feb. 8, 2008, the Crimson Tide once again makes history by selling out its second meet in as many weeks with 15,075 on hand to see Alabama take on Arkansas. The Tide, one of only two schools to draw more than 12,000 for a single meet, becomes the first program in collegiate gymnastics history to have 15,000-plus fans at two meets in a single season.

GREAT MOMENTS IN ALABAMA GYMNASTICS HISTORY

Alabama caps the 2007 season with a pair of individual NCAA championships on April 26, 2007, when junior Terin

Humphrey and freshman Morgan Dennis take home the nation's top prize on the uneven bars and floor exercise, respectively. Humphrey, who also won the 2005 NCAA Uneven Bars title, is the fifth Tide gymnast to win multiple national championships. Dennis becomes the fifth Alabama gymnast to win an NCAA title as a rookie. It is the sixth year in a row that Alabama has won at least one individual NCAA title.

They came in droves to support Sarah Patterson's Power of Pink initiative and they brought their friends, and on January 20, 2006, for only the second time in school history, an Alabama gymnastics meet sells out, drawing a Southeastern Conference and Alabama record 15,162 fans to Coleman Coliseum. It is the largest collegiate gymnastics crowd in the nation since 1993 and the third largest all-time. Everyone at the UA-Florida gymnastics meet, both teams included, wears pink in support of "Drive 4 the Cause." The meet raises awareness for the fight against breast cancer.

Already a legend, Ashley Miles secures her legacy on April 22, 2006, by winning her third NCAA vault championship, making her only the second gymnast in NCAA history, and first in more than 20 years, to win a trio of vault titles. She finished her career with four individual national titles, tying her for third in NCAA history.

On May 3, 2006, Ashley Miles wins Alabama's sixth Honda Award, capping a senior season that includes her fourth NCAA title with the national gymnast of the year award. A month later, she becomes a top-5 finalist for the Honda-Broderick Cup, given annually to the nation's top female athletes. She receives her Honda Award in front of 92,000-plus fans at half time of an Alabama football game.

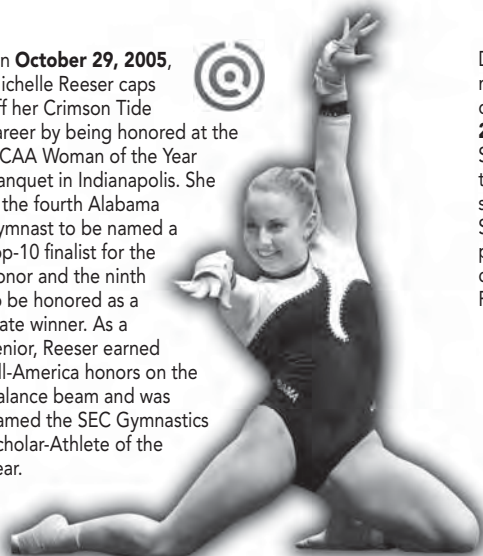

Doing the amazing is nothing new for Ashley Miles, and so no one is surprised when on March 25, 2006, she becomes the first gymnast in Southeastern Conference history to win the same event four years in a row when she takes home the SEC floor exercise title. She finishes her career with 20 individual postseason titles, including four NCAA championships, six SEC titles and 10 NCAA Regional championships.

On October 29, 2005,

Michelle Reeser caps off her Crimson Tide career by being honored at the NCAA Woman of the Year Banquet in Indianapolis. She is the fourth Alabama gymnast to be named a top-10 finalist for the honor and the ninth to be honored as a state winner. As a senior, Reeser earned All-America honors on the balance beam and was named the SEC Gymnastics Scholar-Athlete of the Year.

On August 22, 2004, freshman-to-be Terin Humphrey, who had already helped guide the United States to a silver medal in the team competition at the 2004 Athens Olympics, earns a silver of her own on the uneven bars. When she joins the Crimson Tide on Dec. 26, 2004, after traveling with the T.J. Maxx Tour of Champions through the fall, she becomes the Tide's first Olympian and first Olympic medalist. Humphrey keeps things rolling along in that first season with the Tide, winning the NCAA Uneven Bars Championship.

Jeana Rice won six postseason titles as a senior, including a clean sweep of the Southeastern Conference, NCAA West Regional and NCAA All-Around Championships and finishes her career with an NCAA record 18 All-America honors. For all that she accomplished, on April 23, 2004, Rice is named the 2004 Honda Award Winner given annually to the nation's best gymnast. It marks the fifth time an Alabama gymnast earns that recognition. She is also named SEC "Athlete of the Year" by the conference's athletics directors.

Not only will Kristin Sterner graduate with three championship rings, including one for the 2002 NCAA Championship and one each for the 2000 and 2003 Southeastern Conference titles, but she will also earn 11 All-America honors, serve as the Tide's captain as a junior and senior and post a 3.9 grade point average in biology during her standout career. Such excellence is recognized on May 29, 2003, when Sterner is named the Southeastern Conference's Scholar-Athlete of the Year. It marks the third time in school history that an Alabama gymnast has earned this award, with Sterner joining Julie Estin (1987) and Meredith Willard (1997). Sterner will also earn the prestigious NCAA Top VIII Award, making her the third Alabama gymnast to do so, joining Willard (1997) and André Pickens (2002).

On April 17, 2004, Ashley Miles becomes the first Crimson Tide gymnast to defend an NCAA vault title. For good measure, she throws in the NCAA Floor Exercise title as well. Miles becomes the first Alabama gymnast to win two different NCAA apparatus titles in the same season. In addition to winning the NCAA floor exercise crown, Miles repeats as SEC and NCAA Regional floor exercise champion.

In a show of overwhelming generosity, businessman Steve Smith makes a $1 million gift to the Crimson Tradition Fund in honor of his mother, Frances (left), a life-long Alabama fan who "never misses a home gymnastics meet." In honor of his donation, The University of Alabama gymnastics practice facility, part of the Coleman Coliseum Annex, is dedicated the "Frances Smith Gymnastics Practice Facility" on November 5, 2004.

Ashley Miles had scored other 10s, and she'd even scored 10s at the NCAA Championships before, but none were as dramatic as her back-to-back 10s on April 22, 2005, during the NCAA Super Six Team Final, when the San Antonio, Texas native posts perfect marks on the floor exercise and vault, leading Alabama to a second-place team finish.

On March 8, 2003, Sarah Patterson is inducted into the Alabama Sports Hall of Fame. She is just the sixth woman ever elected to the hall and the first female coach. "It's my name they're going to call out," Sarah Patterson said of the honor. "But as anybody who has followed our program knows, it is honoring what David and I have accomplished together." The induction comes on the heels of the Tide's fourth NCAA Championship under the Pattersons and Sarah Patterson being named National Coach of the Year for a fourth time. It precedes Alabama winning its fifth SEC championship under the Pattersons and posting its 14th top-3 finish at the NCAA Championships, where the Tide finishes second.

On January 12, 2003, Andréé Pickens caps a career that is second to none with the most prestigious award given by the NCAA. The 14-time All-American and two-time NCAA champion is chosen as one of the NCAA Today's Top VIII, an award that spans both men and women as well as all sports and divisions of the NCAA. Not only is Pickens chosen for this award, she is also asked to give the keynote address, delivering a speech that brings those gathered at the NCAA Convention to their feet.

After wowing fans throughout the season with her soaring vaults, on April 26, 2003, freshman Ashley Miles impresses the toughest crowd of all by winning the Crimson Tide's first national vault crown, scoring a 10.0 on her first vault and a 9.875 on her second to secure the NCAA Championship in Lincoln, Neb. Miles had already scored two 10.0s in NCAA Championship competition, winning the NCAA Central Region floor exercise title with a perfect mark and scoring a 10.0 during the first night of the NCAA team competition.

It is March 15, 2003, and Alabama wins Southeastern Conference title No. 5 in a competition that comes down to the Tide's last competitor on the last event, clipping second-place Georgia 197.275-197.225. Junior Jeana Rice wins the all-around, balance beam and uneven bars and is named SEC Gymnast of the Year, marking the fourth year in a row an Alabama athlete has won the award. Freshman Ashley Miles posts a 9.975 floor exercise routine that not only clinches the Tide's title but wins the event and earns her All-SEC honors as well. Freshman Larissa Stewart posts a career best on the uneven bars, earning second team All-SEC honors in the process and sophomore Michelle Reeser's leadoff balance beam routine earns her second team All-SEC honors on that event. Senior Kristin Sterner, juniors Lauren Holdefer and Stephanie Kite, sophomores Alexis Brion and Shannon Hrozek and freshmen Mari Bayer, Rachael Delahoussaye, Dana Filetti, Dana Pierce and Lauren Pruitt all do their part to bring home the big trophy to Tuscaloosa.

GREAT MOMENTS IN ALABAMA GYMNASTICS HISTORY

Andree Pickens wins her second NCAA Championship and the 13th in Alabama history on April 20, 2002. It is her 12th routine in three days and the Houston, Texas native is exhausted, but she finds the energy for one more routine, the last of her career, and makes it count. The 14-time All-American and winner of both the AAI American Award and the Honda Award for Gymnastics, scores a 9.925 on the uneven bars to win. With a tired wave to a crowd that is giving her a standing ovation, Pickens closes out a career that was legendary even before she won the title.

Senior Andree Pickens has the most dominating performance in Southeastern Conference Championship history on March 23, 2002, when she wins four of the five individual titles up for grabs that night at Bartow Arena. Not only is she the first gymnast to win four SEC titles in one year, she also earns her third SEC Gymnast of the Year honor. Pickens becomes the only gymnast to win the award more than once. She finishes her career with seven SEC titles, including two all-arounds, the SEC Community Service Postgraduate Scholarship and the SEC Athlete of the Year award.

Alabama rolls to NCAA Championship No. 4 on April 19, 2002, in Coleman Coliseum with a rock-solid performance on all four events, especially the balance beam, where the Tide finished off the meet (and all the other teams) for the fourth time in a row. Senior Andree Pickens posts the night's top all-around score and earns five All-America honors in leading the Tide to victory. In all, Alabama earns a meet-high 14 All-America honors with sophomore Jeana Rice earning three, junior Kristin Sterner and sophomore Alexis Brion taking two a piece while senior Natalie Barrington and freshman Shannon Hrozek earn one each. Seniors Alexa Martinez, Whitney Morgan and Raegan Tomasek, junior Sara Scarborough, sophomores Helen Burgin, Tiffany Byrd, Erin Holdefer, Lauren Holdefer and Stephanie Kite and freshman Michelle Reeser round out the championship roster.

Alabama travels to Gainesville for the 2000 Southeastern Conference Championship and falls into a groove that carries it through a dominating performance to win SEC title No. 3 on March 18, 2000. Sophomore Andree Pickens wins the vault, uneven bars and all-around titles and is named SEC Gymnast of the Year. She and freshman Kristin Sterner earn first-team All-SEC honors, while juniors Katie Hornecker and Dara Stewart (pictured right with their championship rings) along with sophomore Natalie Barrington all earned second team All-SEC honors. Seniors Lexa Evans and Gina Logan, juniors Robin Hawkins, April Makinson and Lissy Smith, sophomores Krista Gole, Alexa Martinez, Whitney Morgan and Raegan Tomasek and freshman Sara Scarborough round out the championship roster.

She didn't believe it. "Check again," she admonished everyone within her grasp. "There's been some kind of mistake," she told them. She tugged urgently at the sleeve of the nearest meet official, asking him to check, then double check the scores. There had been a mistake, someone else was supposed to be where she was. No mistake, the scores were right. On Thursday, April 25, 1996, Meredith Willard, the ultimate team player in a sport filled with individuals, had won the NCAA All-Around Championship.

On Friday, April 26, 1996, paced by three individual NCAA champions and a program-record eight All-Americans, the Tide posts an NCAA Super Six record 198.025 to win its third NCAA title, second in the 1990s. Senior Kim Kelly and juniors Meredith Willard and Stephanie Woods all earn individual NCAA titles. Junior Kim Bonaventura, sophomore Merritt Booth, Kelly, sophomore Danielle McAdams, sophomore Shay Murphy, senior Marna Neubauer, Willard and Woods combine to earn 18 All-America honors. Sophomore Heather Nasser and freshmen Mandy Chapman, Lisa Gianni and Gwen Spidle round out Alabama's championship roster.

In a hint of the career to come, Andree Pickens wins the NCAA Balance Beam Championship as a freshman on April 24, 1999, capping a championship where she becomes the first freshman in NCAA history to earn five All-America honors.

One fan after another made their way into Coleman Coliseum on February 1, 1997, until finally, just before 7 p.m. and the start of the Alabama-Georgia gymnastics meet, history is made and Alabama gymnastics sells out. A capacity crowd of 15,043 fills Alabama's arena. It is the largest crowd to ever see a women's athletic event in the state of Alabama and the largest crowd to ever see an SEC gymnastics meet. Alabama's challenge for the national record is foiled not by lack of fans, but lack of seats. Reportedly more than 400 fans were turned away from the doors of the Coliseum.

Stephanie Woods knew that the uneven bars routine she had just finished had been special, she just wasn't sure if anyone else knew. It was the night of the event finals at the NCAA Championships and she had just completed her routine. But the Austin, Texas, native's feeling about her routine carried over to the judges, who knew they had seen something of championship caliber. On Saturday, April 27, 1996, Woods won the NCAA Uneven Bars Championship, etching her name in Crimson legend.

In the final performance of her Crimson Tide career, as the music of her floor routine reached its final beat and tears stream down her face, Kim Kelly's success-studded career turns golden. The King of Prussia, Pa., native wins the 1996 NCAA Floor Exercise Championship in front of the home crowd with a perfect 10.0 and an avalanche of applause. For Kelly, that's how it ends on Saturday, April 27, 1996. One last floor routine, perfect in execution – a moment in time – for all time, filled with tears of joy and sadness – and rolls upon rolls of cheers.

On May 29, 1990, Dee Foster becomes the first freshman in Southeastern Conference history to be named the league's Athlete of the Year. Foster is an obvious choice, after winning the 1990 NCAA All-Around Championship with an NCAA record of 39.30 and earning four All-America honors as a rookie. She led Alabama to a second-place national finish and the Tide's second SEC Team title.

Junior Dee Foster, already a Crimson Tide legend, turns perfect on March 14, 1992, during a dual meet with Georgia in Athens, scoring a 10.0 on a vault. Foster will earn eight 10.0s during her storied Tide career – five 10.0s on the vault, one on the uneven bars and two on the floor exercise.

No one could say that Dana Dobransky was not a pressure player. Dobransky wins two NCAA balance beam titles during her legendary Crimson Tide career. The first title comes in 1992 and the second, as a senior, in Corvallis, Ore. on April 17, 1993, with a perfect 10.0. With her perfect performance, Dobransky becomes the first Tide gymnast to repeat as national champion on an individual event. She goes on to earn an NCAA and SEC Postgraduate Scholarships, putting an exclamation mark on one of the greatest careers in Crimson Tide history.

GREAT MOMENTS IN ALABAMA GYMNASTICS HISTORY

 The Crimson Tide starts the 1990s off on the right foot. Alabama marches into the Georgia Coliseum on March 25, 1990, and marches out with its second SEC team title. Alabama finishes more than a point ahead of second-place LSU. The Tide's 193.55 total sets an SEC Championship record. Senior Marie Robbins caps an outstanding career wearing the crimson and white of Alabama by winning the Tide's second-ever SEC all-around title, with a championship record score. That same year, a program-record eight members of the championship squad earn SEC Academic Honor Roll honors and Robbins earns an SEC Postgraduate Scholarship. Seniors Ali Blumberg, Tracey Tillman and Cheri Way, juniors Kim Masters and Tina Rinker, sophomores Gina Basile, Katherine Kelleher and Shea McFall, and freshman Dana Dobransky all help bring home the Tide's second SEC trophy.

 The theme of the 1991 NCAA Gymnastics Championships is "Stars Fall on Alabama" and nothing could be closer to the truth as the host Crimson Tide uses a slew of talented ladies on April 19, 1991, to keep the championship in Tuscaloosa. Alabama's 195.125 total sets an NCAA Championship scoring record. The Tide outdistances second-place Utah by three-quarters of a point. Georgia is third followed by Oregon State, Penn State and Florida. Senior Kim Masters, juniors Gina Basile, Katherine Kelleher and Shea McFall, sophomores Dana Dobransky and Dee Foster, and freshman Kara Stip all earn All-America honors. Senior Tina Rinker and freshmen Keri Duley, Sheryl Dundas, and Marti Watson round out the Tide's hometown championship roster.

 After three rotations of the 1995 Southeastern Conference Championships being held in Gainesville, Fla., the Crimson Tide find themselves in fourth place with the chance for a third SEC Championship looking bleak. Fortunately, Alabama sees not a chance to give up, but a chance to make history. Alabama soars past Georgia, LSU and Florida on the strength of the best vault total in NCAA history on rotation No. 4 to win the SEC title on March 25, 1995. The Tide's 196.175 is just .05 in front of second-place LSU. Alabama counts nothing lower than a 9.900 on the way to setting the vault mark. Junior Kim Kelly hits a 10.0 to win the vault. Senior Chasity Junkin and freshman Merritt Booth both turn in career-high 9.975s on the vault. Sophomore Stephanie Woods wins the SEC uneven bars title. Junior Marna Neubauer, sophomores Kim Bonaventura and Meredith Willard, and freshmen Danielle McAdams, Shay Murphy and Heather Nasser all contribute to bringing SEC title No. 3 home to Tuscaloosa.

Alabama is competing at its third NCAA Championship on April 12-13, 1985, when junior Penney Hauschild explodes into a Crimson Tide legend by winning the NCAA All-Around Championship in Salt Lake City, Utah. It is the first time that an athlete from Utah fails to win the all-around title. The Pennsylvania native also wins the uneven bars title. Hauschild is the first individual NCAA champion in Alabama gymnastics history. Her all-around total is an NCAA Championships record. Hauschild will go on to win four NCAA titles during her legendary career, repeating as all-around champion in 1986 and adding the floor exercise title to her resume that same year.

 Crimson Tide legend Penney Hauschild caps a brilliant Crimson Tide career with her second consecutive Honda Broderick Award on January 11, 1986. The Honda Broderick Award is given annually to the nation's best gymnast. Hauschild's career includes two NCAA All-Around championships, an NCAA Uneven Bars title and an NCAA Floor Exercise title. Hauschild earned 10 All-America honors during her storied career. She earned five NCAA Central Regional titles and one SEC all-around crown.

 Eleven gymnasts and a lifetime of dreams come together on April 22, 1988, as Alabama wins its first NCAA team championship. Alabama scores an NCAA Championship record 190.05 in front of a rowdy handful of Tide faithful in Salt Lake City. Utah is second followed by UCLA, LSU, Georgia and Florida. The Tide is led by four All-Americans – senior Kathy Bilodeau, sophomores Marie Robbins and Cheri Way, and freshman Tina Rinker. Senior Ali Beldon, sophomores Ali Blumberg and Tracey Tillman and freshmen Wendy Anderson, Kim Masters and Susie Pierce round out the Tide's championship roster.

⊙ All-American Barbara Mack – a Rhodes Scholarship finalist, the first Alabama gymnast to win the Paul W. Bryant Award, an NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship winner and a two-time Region Champion – caps a brilliant Crimson Tide career by becoming the first Alabama gymnast to win the AMF American Award on April 13, 1985.

⊙ Julie Garrett becomes Alabama's first All-American on April 4, 1982. Garrett paces the Tide to a fourth-place finish at the 1982 AIAW National Championships before attending the first NCAA Championship as an individual. Undaunted by her first NCAA appearance, Garrett earns All-America recognition on the uneven bars.

⊙ History didn't record the first meeting, the first practice or the first vault – those dates are lost in time – but the first meet, the first time The University of Alabama put forth a group of young women wearing crimson and white leotards came on January 10, 1975. Alabama opens at home, falling to Georgia College 83.75-65.80. And with that, the program that will become one of the most celebrated in collegiate athletics is underway.

⊙ No one may have known it at the time, but July 1, 1978, marks the start of something extremely special as the Crimson Tide begins its rise toward becoming one of the most successful programs in the history of collegiate athletics when Sarah Campbell becomes Alabama gymnastics' fifth head coach in five years. She immediately hires David Patterson as her assistant coach. The rest, as they say, is history.

⊙ Alabama wins its first NCAA Regional title on March 26, 1983, earning its first trip to the NCAA Championships which will be held at Salt Lake City, Utah, two weeks later. Sarah and David Patterson's first recruiting class helps take the Tide to the top of the South Region, downing the region's until-then dominant team, Florida, the meet's host.

⊙ On May 27, 1987, Julie Estin becomes the first athlete from Alabama to be honored as the Southeastern Conference Scholar-Athlete of the Year. Estin also earns NCAA and SEC Postgraduate Scholarships, which she puts to good use. In July 1996, Dr. Julie Vaughn set up practice in Tuscaloosa as a pediatrician.

ALABAMA AT THE NCAA CHAMPIONSHIPS

On the national level, Alabama has enjoyed staggering success for 35 years ever since vaulting into the NCAA standings in 1983 with a fourth-place finish. The Crimson Tide won its sixth national championship, and second in a row, in 2012, marking the first time in Alabama's storied history that the team has won back-to-back titles.

The 2017 season marked Alabama's 35th consecutive NCAA Championship appearance, a stretch that includes 29 top-4 finishes, and 13 top-2 finishes.

Alabama gymnasts have also excelled individually, winning 27 individual NCAA championships, including Katie Bailey's 2016 vault title and 2017 uneven bars championship. Bailey's championship was Alabama's fifth vault title while Jacob's championship was the Tide's sixth all-around title.

Jacob joined Diandra Milliner, who won the 2014 NCAA Vault title, and Geralen Stack-Eaton, who won NCAA Championships on the balance beam and floor exercise in 2011 and 2012, respectively, in giving Alabama four consecutive years with an individual NCAA title.

In 2007, Morgan Dennis won the NCAA floor exercise title as a freshman while Terin Humphrey won her second national uneven bars title that same season, adding it to her 2005 championship.

Ashley Miles won four NCAA championships during her career, including three vault titles, 2003, 2004, 2006 and the 2004 floor exercise crown. In 2006, she became the first collegiate gymnast in 20 years to win the same event three times.

Jeana Rice brought home Alabama's fifth NCAA all-around title in 2004, joining Penney Hauschild, Alabama's first NCAA champion, who won all-around titles in 1985 and 1986, as well as Dee Foster and Meredith Willard who managed the feat in 1990 and 1996, respectively. Foster became the first collegiate gymnast to finish top-3 in the all-around all four years of her career. She was first in 1990, second in 1991 and 1993, and third in 1992.

In addition to her all-around titles, Hauschild won the uneven bars championship in 1985 and took home top marks in the floor exercise in 1986. Gina Basile was awarded the balance beam title in 1991, while Dana Dobransky was the first Tide gymnast to repeat on an individual event when she won back-to-back balance beam titles in 1992 and 1993.

Kim Kelly finished off her stellar career with a winning 10.0 floor exercise performance at the 1996 NCAA Individual Event Finals. That same year, Stephanie Woods won the uneven bars title as a junior. In 1999, Andréé Pickens won the NCAA balance beam as a rookie. She added a Cinderella finish to her standout career with the 2002 NCAA Uneven Bars Championship.

When it comes to All-America honors, Alabama has been extremely prolific as 71 Tide gymnasts have earned All-America honors a total of 340 times. In 1993, Foster set an NCAA record when she ended her career with 17 first team All-America honors, a mark that still stands. In 2004, Rice set the national mark for All-America honors in a career, finishing with 18 combined first- and second-team honors.

NCAA WOMAN OF THE YEAR

First awarded in 1991, the Woman of the Year program honors academic and athletics excellence, as well as community service and leadership, on a national level. From 1991 to 2006, there were three levels: state winner, finalist and Woman of the Year. There are now four levels, conference winner, Top-30, Top-9 and Woman of the Year. The middle two tiers are now divided among the three NCAA Divisions, which means that for Division I, there are 10 finalists among the Top-30 and three among the Top-9.

Plinske also presented the inaugural award to Kassi Price in 2010 (right).

THE 2012 NCAA CHAMPIONS

For the Alabama gymnastics team, the final rotation of the 2012 NCAA Championships was like déjà vu of the best kind. In fact, the Crimson Tide's entire national championship experience in 2012 was reminiscent of 2011 in Cleveland, when Alabama won its fifth national title, though there were certainly twists along the way.

In 2011, Alabama headed into the championship's final rotation only .025 ahead of UCLA. In 2012, Alabama trailed No. 1 seed Florida by the same margin. In 2011, Alabama headed to the floor exercise while defending NCAA champion UCLA took to the balance beam, and Oklahoma sat on a bye with a score good enough to win, if the Crimson Tide and Bruins faltered. In 2012, the Gators went to the floor while defending champion Alabama headed to the beam and UCLA sat on a bye with a score that would have won the previous two championships.

If all that wasn't enough, Alabama and Florida were tied at the midpoint of that final rotation, just as the Bruins and Tide had been in 2011.

From there things were a little different. While Alabama took the lead with its fourth routine in 2011 and never looked back, in 2012 the Gators retook the lead with their fourth routine and stayed in front after their fifth. When the final Gator scored a 9.925, it gave Florida a team score of 197.775, just ahead of the Bruins with everyone in the arena waiting on Alabama's final competitor to see if her score was enough to put the Tide on top once again.

While that final 2012 rotation seemed very familiar to the rest of the Crimson Tide veterans, it was a vastly different experience for Ashley Priess. In 2011, following surgery on both ankles prior to the regular season, she had been on the sidelines as her teammates powered their way to the title. Now Priess was standing on the podium, waiting to salute the judges and compete for a championship.

After senior Geralen Stack-Eaton's 9.9 in the fifth position, Priess needed a 9.875 to tie the Gators; anything better would win. After watching Kayla Hoffman in the same position the year before, Priess was ready.

"Championships always come down to the last routine and no matter if it was a close meet or not a close meet, I knew I had to do my job and I knew that I was capable of doing it to the best of my ability," Priess said. "The only thing that was going through my mind was to be calm, cool and collected and just do my job."

With every eye inside The Arena at Gwinnett Center on her, the Illinois native did just that. She mounted the beam and proceeded to confidently sweep through a near flawless routine. After nailing her dismount, Priess raced down the podium steps and into the arms of her jubilant teammates.

"All the way through Ashley's routine, we were all grouped together and holding onto each other and talking to her as she was going through her routine," Stack-Eaton said. "We were saying 'Okay, come on, connect!' and 'Chest up!' and 'Stick!' and we just all jumped up in the air when she finished. We didn't know what our fate was, but we just knew that we all did what we possibly could."

When Priess' score came up, the celebration started all over again as a 9.95 flashed, giving the Crimson Tide its second NCAA Championship in a row, this time by just .075. All told, the top five teams finished with scores over 197 and the difference between first and third place was the closest in championship history at only a tenth of a point.

"I said going into the championship that it would be the closest and most competitive championship that I had ever coached in," Patterson said. "I felt like because of the quality of teams, it was going to come down to the very end, and it did."

It certainly was a storybook ending to Priess' comeback season, and it was all that Patterson had hoped for.

"Ashley came back this year and used the hurt and frustration from a year ago to fuel herself and this team," Patterson said moments after the championship.

While the Tide's finish is the stuff of legend, its entire championship run was magical and it both started and ended on the balance beam.

Alabama began Friday night's semifinal session on the balance beam, setting the tone for the rest of the weekend with an extraordinary 49.6 performance. Kim Jacob started the Tide off with a 9.9, a score matched by Kayla Williams and Sarah DeMeo before Stack-Eaton and Priess powered through to the end with matching 9.95s. After its strong start, Alabama went on to total a 197.675, the highest semifinal score of either session, edging out the Gators by .025.

In the Super Six, Alabama picked up where it left off the night before, posting a 49.450 on the floor exercise, anchored by a 9.95 from Stack-Eaton. Things got even better on the vault, where they had five 9.9 or better routines, including a 9.95 from Diandra Milliner and a 9.975 from Stack-Eaton, resulting in a 49.625. A 49.275 on the uneven bars by the Tide and a 49.475 on the balance beam by the Gators, allowed Florida to pull ahead going into the sixth and final rotation setting up an edge-of-the-seat championship finale for the second year in a row.

When all the scores were tallied, Alabama turned in the highest scores of the Super Six on the floor exercise, vault and balance beam. The Tide's 49.6 beam performance during the semifinals matched the highest beam score in history of the national championships.

Individually, Stack-Eaton scored a career-best 39.700 while Priess posted a 39.575, the second-highest score of her career. During their two days of balance beam dominance, Jacob led off both nights with a 9.9 while Williams, who competed on the beam for the first time in the Tide's regular-season finale, scored matching 9.9s of her own while Priess scored 9.95 both nights.

In the relative quiet of the post-championship press conference, Priess told the gathered media what she felt had made the difference that day for Alabama.

"Before the competition, we all had an assignment from the coaches to write down why we love being an Alabama gymnast and pretty much every single person answered that it was about the tradition, and that it was about how we are all family and that we all have each other's backs through good times and bad," Priess said. "I think that came out tonight, the way that we love each other and truly care about each other and I think it brings out the best in us all."

THE 2011 NCAA CHAMPIONS

It was the perfect moment.

The Alabama Crimson Tide – gymnasts, coaches, managers, trainers and all – standing in front of the first-place banner at the national championships, holding their golden trophy high while a rowdy throng of Tide fans cheered them mightily from the stands of the Wolstein Center in Cleveland, Ohio.

That moment was the pinnacle of a journey that began in August when the freshmen reported to campus, joining nine returnees. From that moment, Sarah Patterson and company went about the task of building its latest team, starting down a road that ultimately culminated in the Tide claiming its fifth national championship.

"To have everything come together like it did – to win SECs, regionals and then the national championship – it was a dream come true," Sarah Patterson said. "I don't think I could have asked for a better year with a more rewarding, talented and unified team, or a more perfect ending to an amazing season."

That's not to say that Alabama was perfect on its way to winning its fifth NCAA Championship. There were bumps along the way, but the manner in which the team handled the adversity, coming together as a team – staying positive and looking ahead with confidence – made all the difference.

"The moment that really stands out to me was when Kayla Hoffman fell off beam in the Super Six Team Final and we still had Sarah DeMeo and Geralen Stack-Eaton to compete," Patterson said. "We knew that if we had to count that fall we'd be out of contention. When Kayla came off the beam, she smiled at me, looked at Sarah and with a sense of confidence and purpose, said 'You got this.' "

Hoffman's confidence in her teammates settled DeMeo, a freshman competing at her first national championships, keeping her from getting rattled.

"Kayla relaxed Sarah in a way that no coach could do and I felt 100-percent confident that Sarah and Geralen would make their routines and keep the championship within reach," Patterson said.

As big as DeMeo and Stack-Eaton hitting their routines was, it was Hoffman's reaction to her fall that told Patterson the national championship was within their grasp.

"There was a time when Kayla as a competitor would not have been able to handle her disappointment of falling that way," Patterson said. "I knew we had come great distances and that Kayla's reaction after she made that mistake was a turning point for our team."

For Hoffman, the knowledge that her teammates had her back and would lift her up if she made a mistake grew throughout the season. By the time they reached the championship season, that trust in one another was absolute.

"It's sports. Sports are going to be messy. Sports are never going to be completely perfect," Hoffman said. "It's what you do from that. It's how you recover from a mistake, or a little slip-up, how you recover, how you work together, that is most important."

While Alabama's beam set in the Super Six Team Final is the moment that stands out in Sarah Patterson's mind, it was the next rotation, with Alabama on the floor exercise and defending champion UCLA on the balance beam just a few feet away that is burned in the minds of everyone who saw the epic, down-to-the-wire battle that determined who would be the 2011 national champions.

After being tied with the Bruins at the halfway point of the meet, the Tide went into the final rotation with a slim .025 lead.

"Going into the last event I wanted to help the ladies stay focused on being calm and knowing that if they could do their routines to the best of their ability, we could come out as champions," Patterson said. "I think when you get in the heat of the moment, you don't want anyone to be scared. You want them to be confident and to know that they have this. It was great to be on floor exercise, because it's an event you can go all out on."

The Tide and Bruins opened that deciding rotation with matching scores of 9.85 before UCLA tied the meet with a 9.825 from their second gymnast while Alabama posted a 9.8. The Bruins moved ahead by .025 after their third gymnast scored a 9.875 and the Tide answered with a 9.850. Alabama took the lead back with its next routine before Geralen Stack-Eaton – who would go on to win the NCAA Floor Exercise Championship the next night during individual event finals – extended the Tide's lead with a 9.925, the highest floor score of the day to that point. From there, it was up to Hoffman.

A solid routine and Alabama would complete its championship sweep. Hoffman did more than just hit her routine, she nailed it, posting a 9.95 to push Alabama to a 197.650 and a .275 margin of victory over the Bruins.

"I knew when Kayla landed that last pass that we had won," Patterson said. "There was a sense of sheer excitement and joy in knowing that we'd helped these young women achieve the dream of a lifetime."

So how did a team that lost four All-Americans to graduation and a fifth, Ashley Priess, to ankle surgery in the fall, and had a championship lineup that included 13 routines that weren't in the mix the year before, win all three postseason titles? Perhaps Kayla Hoffman summed it up best in the moments after clinching the championship sweep.

"Sometimes, it's not about talent, it's about heart," she told CBS' Amanda Borden. "Because we're so close – that made the difference."

THE 2002 NCAA CHAMPIONS

On the way to winning its fourth NCAA Championship, Alabama was a study in contrast. In the locker room, which the coaches and gymnasts had turned into a beach getaway, complete with sand, umbrellas, floats and beach music, the Tide was laid back and laughing. Out in the arena, moving ever closer to the title, they were cool, calm and collected.

"We have always done our best when we are loose and laughing," Kristin Sterner said. "So the coaches made sure that while we were in the locker room, we didn't get tense or uptight."

On the night of the Super Six, head coach Sarah Patterson even went so far as to pull out the dress she wore to the championships the first time Alabama won at home, in 1991, a red and white striped, strapless sequined number.

"At first they were surprised, and then they started laughing pretty hard," Patterson said. "I think they really enjoyed seeing that, especially since it's pretty far removed from the kinds of things I wear today."

Sarah and David Patterson, coaching at their 20th NCAA Championship, knew that staying loose would give their team an edge in a tight competition. The night of the NCAA Super Six, none of the six teams had a fall. It would be the second-highest scoring night in championship history.

The high-caliber opposition didn't seem to matter though, the higher the other teams turned up the heat, the cooler Alabama gymnasts were.

For two nights in a row, Alabama started the night on the floor exercise, which means that for two nights in a row, Alabama's championship hopes came down to six routines on the balance beam, often the most daunting event of the four, especially when the pressure is on.

On the final night, just to add more drama to the evening, Alabama was on the balance beam during the last rotation while second-place Georgia was on the floor exercise. Not only would Alabama have to hit their routines, but they would also have to hold off Georgia.

Each routine grew in importance as both teams moved through the rotation. Alabama hit routine after routine until Sterner came up in the number five spot. A hit routine from Sterner and the championship belonged to Alabama; a miss would open the door for Georgia.

Sterner put together a rock-solid routine and finished it off by nailing her landing. The title belonged once again to the Tide. But the team didn't know that, not for sure. For Alabama, there was one more routine to go from the Tide's all-everything senior Andree Pickens.

"I started to cry when Kristin landed her routine," Pickens said. "Jeana Rice came over to me and told me that it was OK, I could do it, I could do it one more time. That whole routine was in slow motion. It wasn't rushed and I wasn't nervous, I was happy and I was confident."

Pickens nailed her routine. And when she threw her arms in the air after her dismount, the Coleman Coliseum crowd knew what had happened. They knew the Alabama team had again, as the Tide fight song says, "Writ her name in crimson flame ..." and brought a fourth national title to Tuscaloosa. They roared their approval, stomping, clapping and screaming, much like the pandemonium that had broken out on the floor amongst the Tide athletes, coaches and staff.

It had been a remarkable run. Since counting a fall on the final event of the SEC Championships, Alabama had gone a perfect 72 for 72 during their championship march. Pickens, senior Natalie Barrington, Sterner, sophomore Jeana Rice and freshmen Alexis Brion and Shannon Hrozek earned 14 All-America honors between them, the most of any team at the championship. On Saturday, an exhausted Pickens, who competed 12 routines in three days, had enough energy left to win the NCAA uneven bars title to go with the American Award, which denotes the nation's top senior, that she'd picked up earlier in the day.

There would be more moments of celebration in the weeks and months that followed. Alabama received their championship rings in front of 83,000-plus fans at the halftime of the Alabama-Southern Mississippi football game. They were also honored at the Homecoming parade and the pep rally/bonfire the night before.

But perhaps the best moment came immediately after the team received the trophy from Alabama Director of Athletics Mal Moore, when everyone was laughing and hugging. It was Pickens – who had come back from a torn Achilles that ended her junior season just days before the 2001 NCAA Championship – who put it best.

Standing in the middle of her teammates, tightly clutching the Tide's golden prize to her chest, Pickens said, "This is why I came back. This is why I worked so hard for so many months to get back – to be able to share this moment, this feeling with these girls and this crowd."

"This," she said again, sweeping her eyes over the mob scene in Coleman Coliseum, "is what we wanted."

THE 1996 NCAA CHAMPIONS

For the Alabama gymnastics team, two long years of planning, training and dedication had come down to the next 24 hours. Their motto for the season had been "Enjoy the Journey," and they had, with great success. Now, in April 1996, Alabama was on the verge of competing for the national championship on its home floor. Sarah and David Patterson gathered their team and told them, "We've enjoyed the journey, now it's time to enjoy our destination."

Alabama started its drive for its third NCAA Championship on the same two events where it had counted falls on the first night of team competition. On the uneven bars, sophomore Danielle McAdams produced a 9.875, a mark echoed by freshman Gwen Spidle who was followed by junior Meredith Willard's 9.9. In the fourth position senior Kim Kelly suffered a fall, putting the Tide's final two performers in clutch positions. Junior Stephanie Woods responded with a 9.95. Senior Marna Neubauer came up in the final position. Battling a sore shoulder for the latter half of the season, she came up big for the Tide, swinging to a 9.875. Alabama produced a 49.475, the second-best total in school history.

Alabama then moved to the balance beam. Willard took to the beam in her customary first spot and for the first time all season, on any event, she fell. Sarah Patterson gathered the team together and told them, "Meredith has been our rock all season long. Now we'll be there for her."

Sophomore Shay Murphy was next up and responded with a solid 9.8. Senior Kim Bonaventura posted a 9.825 and Kelly scored 9.9. McAdams came up in the fifth position. Midway through her routine, she wobbled on a landing, staying on the beam seemingly through sheer force of will. McAdams steadied herself and finished the routine to thunderous applause and a 9.725 score. Woods finished things off for the Tide with a 9.9. The Tide posted a 49.150.

Despite a strong first half, Alabama still trailed UCLA, a squad making a push for the top, by .075 with two rotations left.

The Tide moved to the floor exercise, and it was there that Alabama and the crowd of 10,000-plus fans caught fire. Neubauer scored a 9.85, followed by Booth's 9.875.

Then Kelly brought out her floor routine, the one she had learned during the season, and introduced only four meets before. To the strains of "Yea Alabama" and "Sweet Home Alabama," the Pennsylvania native captured her audience and the judges, producing a perfect 10.0 performance and raising the decibel level in Coleman Coliseum to near-deafening heights.

Willard carried the banner of enthusiasm throughout her performance, producing a 9.95. McAdams came up in the final spot and capped Alabama's rotation with a career-high 9.95.

When the counting was done, Alabama had produced an NCAA floor exercise record 49.625.

The Bruins were tenacious though, matching the Tide's record floor effort with an NCAA record of their own on the balance beam (49.50). Going into the last rotation, perennial favorites Georgia and Utah were already out of the championship picture – barring a complete meltdown by both the Crimson Tide and the Bruins. It came down to two teams and one last rotation.

Alabama headed to the vault, just .05 ahead of floor exercise bound UCLA.

What happened during the last rotation is the stuff of legend. Alabama ran off a blistering set of vaults in which the Tide scored nothing lower than a 9.9 and posted two perfect, golden 10.0s.

Booth got Alabama off to a 9.925 start. Bonaventura and Neubauer chimed in with back-to-back 9.9 scores. McAdams came up in the fourth spot and put the ultimate exclamation point on what had already been a career night. She flew down the runway, hit the springboard, then the vault, landed on the mat and did not move. Feet planted, arms thrown back and head held high, McAdams scored her first perfect 10.0 and the fans roared, clapped and screamed their approval. Kelly responded with a 10.0 of her own, the sixth perfect vault of her career and one that raised the roof right off the coliseum. Willard finished the Tide's evening with a 9.95.

The Tide's vault total, 49.775, set yet another NCAA record. UCLA mustered a 49.275 on the floor. The title was Alabama's.

Alabama totaled a 198.025, setting an NCAA 'Super Six' record, to win its third NCAA title and second in front of the home crowd. UCLA was second with a 197.475, a score that would have won all but one other NCAA Championship. Utah and Georgia tied for third with a 196.775. Oregon State was fifth with a 196.525, while Michigan finished sixth with a 196.375. It marked the first time in NCAA history that all six members of the "Super Six" scored 196 or better.

Willard started the Tide's winning ways on the first night of competition, earning Alabama's fourth NCAA All-Around title.

The Tide rolled to two more titles during Saturday night's individual competition. Woods posted a 9.975 to win the NCAA Uneven Bars title. And Kelly, in the last meet of her storied career, inked the perfect final chapter. She posted yet another perfect 10.0 floor routine to win that title.

THE 1991 NCAA CHAMPIONS

In 1991, Sarah Patterson finally had the championships right where she wanted them – in Coleman Coliseum.

Alabama had already gained national prominence, winning its first title in 1988. In 1990, the team brought home its second Southeastern Conference title and placed second to Utah at the national championships. The 1991 team boasted a contingent that included five All-Americans and the 1990 NCAA all-around champion. If the gymnasts did their jobs, there was no doubt in Patterson's mind they would compete in front of the home crowd that final Friday of competition.

"I remember being told that you build a crowd by winning a national championship, but you could also do it by hosting a championship," Patterson said.

The first step toward building the fan base was accomplished with the 1988 NCAA title, which spurred increased interest in the program.

The Tide was young in 1991, with six underclassmen, including four freshmen. The two seniors, Kim Masters and Tina Rinker, sought to weave the 11 girls together to form a squad reminiscent of the 1988 championship they were members of as freshmen.

"I remember feeling that the team had so much talent that we should be able to win the national championship if we could become unified and get into the flow," Rinker reminisced.

Alabama had the opportunity to shine at home, but the team was not fulfilling expectations in the preseason.

"I can remember in December thinking that we were hosting the championships and that we might not even be there," Patterson said.

Preseason practices were not characteristic of a team that should be in contention for a gold, and Patterson predicted a nightmarish outcome if the team did not shape up.

"One day, Sarah sat us down and we got a good lecture," Kara Stilp recalled. "I will never forget it. She told us that we were going to be really embarrassed when we hosted nationals, and we would not be competing in it. We agreed that we all needed to get in gear."

That speech proved to be a turning point for the gymnasts. Once its first competition rolled around, the Tide was ready to go. If preseason was tough, the competition season was just as demanding.

The Tide defeated Auburn in the 1991 season opener even though they had to count three falls on balance beam, an event on which the program had built its reputation. In its home opener against Penn State, the team tumbled to three more falls from the 4-inch wide apparatus. Fortunately, they still came away with a win.

To Patterson, these mistakes were unacceptable for a championship-caliber team. Beam intra-squads came frequently, and the team's self-assurance rose. The team members began to refer to themselves as the "Beam Team."

"We had so much confidence because Sarah made us do so many intra-squads," Sheryl Dundas said. "We could do routines in our sleep."

The Tide traveled to Lexington, Ky., for the Southeastern Conference Championships. Forced to count two falls on the final event, vault, the SEC title slipped from Alabama's hands by .05. The disappointment and frustration made the Tide even more determined to earn the national crown.

"Good teams aren't going to let defeats defeat them overall," Katherine Kelleher told reporters at the time. "They use it to their advantage. That's what we are going to do."

"I've always said that in this conference, you can be third at the conference championship and win the national championship," Patterson explained. "1991 was definitely indicative of that scenario."

At the regional championships at Auburn, the Tide turned in one of its best performances of the season and entered the NAAs as the No. 1 seed.

The Tide drew a favorable rotation at the NCAA Championships, starting on the vault, finishing on the floor exercise. After charging through the first two events, the "Beam Team" was put to its final test, hitting all six routines, passing the exam with flying colors. The Tide was the only team without a fall on the balance beam at the NCAA Championships.

Before the team rotated to floor, Patterson offered only one piece of advice to her charges.

"I just told the kids to land on their feet and stay in bounds," Patterson said.

The floor music reverberated through the Coliseum and each tumbling pass was met with louder and louder cheers and at the end of six routines the Crimson Tide emerged victorious.

"Winning one championship was great, but there was nothing like winning at home," Patterson said. "I felt like winning a second championship validated our program at that point. It wasn't just a one-time thing. Yes, we can have this philosophy of having the best students and athletes and well-rounded individuals and still win a championship."

The team also taught Patterson a thing or two about the seven-month journey to the national championship competition, as well as the expectations that come with the quest.

"It doesn't matter where you start in December," Patterson said. "It only matters where you end in April. Sometimes, when it looks like you have your hardest road to go in preseason, you need to stay focused on the outcome and take it one step at a time. More than anything, I learned from this team to not look too far down that road."

THE 1988 NCAA CHAMPIONS

Sarah and David Patterson were celebrating their 10th anniversary of coaching the Crimson Tide in 1988. Their success had been nothing short of amazing, with five consecutive top-6 finishes including a high of third in 1986. Alabama was a strong team, with a solid foundation built on its coaches and the type of athletes they chose to bring into the program.

The questions began brewing in the Pattersons' minds though. Could their philosophy of developing the whole person produce championships? Would they be able to do things the way they wanted and still climb the final rung and produce a championship? The questions were answered emphatically in 1988.

Alabama started the year 10-strong. It was a young squad, with two seniors, one junior, four sophomores and three freshmen. The Pattersons added to the Tide's arsenal in January, when Kim Masters joined the Tide. Masters had planned to delay college for a year to train for the Seoul Olympics. After finishing ninth at the USA Gymnastics Championships the previous summer, her aspirations for the Olympic rings seemed within her grasp. Striving for that goal lost its appeal though and after much thought, Masters opted for college and the Tide. With its roster set, the season began.

Alabama reeled off a trio of wins to get things going. Then something strange happened – Alabama tied LSU. With fractions of points being added up over the course of 24 individual performances, ties are rare in collegiate gymnastics. Then, at the next meet, Alabama did it again; tying Georgia at the UA-hosted Red and White Classic and beating Utah.

In any other season, that would have been what the year would be known by, the year of two ties. This squad, though, was destined for far greater things.

Alabama set the tone for the postseason by winning its first Southeastern Conference Championship with a 190.15. It was only the second time in school history that the Tide had scored in the 190s. The Tide beat second-place Georgia by .95.

The regionals were next for the Tide and a good performance would be necessary to advance to the NCAA Championships. Instead of a good performance, Alabama produced a school and NCAA-best mark of 191.75. The Tide posted the meet's top score on all four events both individually and as a team. Masters won the all-around followed by Marie Robbins in second and Tina Rinker in fourth.

"I didn't think it was going to be possible to exceed what we did at the Southeastern Conference Championship, but they certainly did," Sarah Patterson said. "They came back and did a better job."

Nationals were in Salt Lake City, Utah, home of five-time NCAA champion Utah, the No. 2 seed. Alabama would also face defending NCAA champs Georgia, No. 3 seed LSU and No. 4 seed Florida. Both the competition and the arena were familiar, being the No. 1 seed was not.

"I don't think there's extra pressure on us being the No. 1 seed," Sarah Patterson said prior to NCAAAs. "We just achieved so many things – winning the SEC, the record in the regionals and the No. 1 seed – that we're too proud of what we've already accomplished to feel pressure."

If Alabama disagreed with their coach, it did not show. Those watching from the stands and those on press row observed a Crimson Tide team that was calm and loose going into the championships, having fun, being playful and displaying an indomitable team spirit.

Alabama scored an NCAA Championship record on the way to its first national championship, shattering the mark previously held by Utah (188.35) with a 190.05. The Tide's highest all-around finish was ninth-place, highlighting the team effort it took to win the championship.

Consistency, along with confidence and enthusiasm were the keys for the Crimson Tide. The Pattersons' crew hit 23 of 24 routines, including a six-for-six balance beam rotation.

"It was the beam – that's where we won it," Sarah Patterson said. "That was our best beam score of the year."

And if the beam was the event that led Alabama to the title, its seniors were the class pointing the way.

"This national championship is for our two seniors – Alli Beldon and Kathy Bilodeau," Sarah Patterson said after the meet. "They hit all three events tonight. They were models for us all year. We just learned from their consistency, which has been our forte all season."

Four Alabama gymnasts earned seven All-America honors. Sarah Patterson was named NCAA Coach of the Year, but most importantly, Alabama had its first NCAA Championship.

"It's so unbelievable," Robbins said. "We had so much fun. That's when we are at our best."

Sophomore Cheri Way noted the seeds were sown long before the trip to Utah.

"I realized we could win the national title after one long and tiresome Tuesday practice when we decided to go out and do it for us," Way said. "When I realized we had won . . . my whole body went numb."

The good times were far from over.

"The best part about winning the championship was coming back home to Alabama," Ali Blumberg said, a sentiment echoed by all her teammates at one point or another during that magical year.

On April 30, 1988, the state of Alabama declared "Alabama Gymnasts Day." There was a parade and a ceremony at the base of Denny Chimes. The next fall, the gymnasts received their championship rings at halftime of the Vanderbilt football game.

ALABAMA'S INDIVIDUAL NCAA CHAMPIONS

The Alabama gymnastics program has always been focused on the team aspect of the sport. It is one of the reasons that the Crimson Tide has enjoyed such tremendous success over the years, including six NCAA Championships, nine Southeastern Conference titles and an NCAA-record 31 regional titles. While team always comes first for Alabama, there have been numerous individual accomplishments over the years including an amazing 27 individual NCAA Championships by 16 different gymnasts. Alabama has also won at least three individual NCAA titles in each of the last four decades, with four in the 1980s, eight in the 1990s, nine in the 2000s and six through the first eight years of the 2010s.

Penney Hauschild won Alabama's first individual NCAA titles when she brought home the all-around and uneven bars title in 1985. She upped her career total to four when she repeated as all-around champion and added a floor exercise title as a senior in 1986. Dee Foster won the Tide's third all-around title as a freshman in 1990. Foster's title was the first of four in a row to start the 1990s, followed by Gina Basile's 1991 balance beam championship and back-to-back balance beam titles from current head coach Dana Duckworth – then Dana Dobransky – in 1992 and 1993. Duckworth became the first Tide gymnast to repeat as a champion on an apparatus, winning her second beam title with a perfect 10.

Alabama not only won the team title in 1996, but added a trio of individual titles by three different women. Meredith Willard won Alabama's fourth all-around championship while Stephanie Woods won the uneven bars and Kim Kelly took top honors on the floor exercise with a perfect 10. Andréé Pickens closed out the decade of the '90s by winning the balance beam title as a freshman in 1999.

Pickens would also win Alabama's first national title of the '00s by winning the 2002 uneven bars championship after leading the Tide to the team championship that same year. Ashley Miles went on a tear in the mid-00s, becoming the second Alabama gymnast to win four titles in a career, taking first on the vault in 2003, 2004 and 2006 and adding the floor exercise championship in 2004. When she won her third vault title in 2006, she became the first NCAA gymnast in 20 years to win a trio of vault titles in a career. Jeana Rice won Alabama's fifth all-around title in 2004. Rice's 2004 title, combined with Miles vault and floor exercise championships that same year, gave Alabama three individual titles in the same year for the second time.

Terin Humphrey won two uneven bars titles, the first as a freshman in 2005 and the second in 2007, the same year Morgan Dennis won the floor exercise championship as a rookie.

Geralen Stack-Eaton led Alabama to back-to-back NCAA team titles in 2011 and 2012 and also won back-to-back individual titles, winning the floor exercise in 2011 and the balance beam in 2012. Coincidentally Stack-Eaton's titles came on the same events – floor exercise in 2011 and balance beam in 2012 – on which Alabama clinched the NCAA team titles.

In 2013, Diandra Milliner won the vault, marking the Tide's fourth vault title.

Kim Jacob won the Tide's latest NCAA all-around championship in 2014, earning UA's sixth all-around and 25th individual NCAA title overall.

In 2016, Katie Bailey soared to Alabama's fifth vault title and first NCAA title under Duckworth as Alabama's head coach. She followed that title with an uneven bars championship in 2017.

ALABAMA'S INDIVIDUAL NCAA CHAMPIONS

KATIE BAILEY

2017 NCAA Uneven Bars
Champion
2016 NCAA Vault
Champion

Already an NCAA champion on the vault as a junior, Katie Bailey capped her senior season by becoming the seventh Crimson Tide gymnast to win multiple individual national titles during her career, taking top honors in her signature event, the uneven bars. On the way to her second NCAA title, she earned her fourth consecutive All-America honor on the uneven bars. Her title helped push Alabama to its NCAA-best 23rd Super Six Team Final. It was the Tide's sixth NCAA uneven bars title.

The year before, at the 2016 NCAA Championships, Bailey came up third in the Tide's vault lineup. After coming set, she flashed down the vault runway, hit the springboard and then the table, soaring through the air, landing with her feet nailed to the ground.

In front of a six-judge panel in Ft. Worth, Texas, Bailey earned 9.95s from every judge for a career-best score and the NCAA vault title. The 2016 season was the first in which the individual title was decided during the semifinal round of the championships. It was Alabama's 26th individual NCAA title and the fifth vault championship.

KIM JACOB

2014 NCAA All-Around
Champion

She was sitting next to Sarah Patterson at the press conference following the NCAA Championships Semifinals and she still had no clue what had happened. Kim Jacob had scored a career-best 39.625 in the all-around, but it didn't occur to her that would be enough to win a national championship. Just before the press conference got underway, an official came in and nodded to Patterson that scores were confirmed. The veteran coach then leaned over and whispered the news to Jacob, congratulating her on winning Alabama's 25th individual NCAA title and sixth all-around crown.

To say Jacob was surprised would be putting it mildly, but after scoring 9.925s on the uneven bars and balance beam and a 9.95 on the floor exercise, she came to her final event, the vault, needing a 9.825 to slip ahead of the 39.600 already posted by Arkansas' Katherine Grable, which is exactly what the Raleigh, N.C., native scored.

Jacob earned four first team All-America honors in 2014, the most of any gymnast in the nation that season, on the way to winning Alabama's first NCAA all-around title since Jeana Rice in 2004.

DIANDRA MILLINER

2013 NCAA Vault
Champion

When Diandra Milliner scored 9.925 on the vault on the last day of the 2013 NCAA Championships in Los Angeles, Calif., it was a familiar sight. It was the sixth time she'd posted that exact mark during the season including her first score of the year at Missouri and now her last.

The difference was this one was for the national championship and after all the scores were tallied – which took quite a while since there were a jaw dropping 23 gymnasts in vault finals as well as six judges on hand for individual event finals and all six scores were averaged for the final score – Milliner's oh so familiar score was good for Alabama's 24th individual NCAA title.

Milliner had come close to winning a national vault title the year before in Duluth, Ga., taking second place, but in 2013 the Tide's anchor on vault since the first meet of her freshman year came away with the gold.

GERALEEN STACK-EATON

2012 NCAA Balance
Beam Champion
2011 NCAA Floor
Exercise Champion

In 2012, for the second year a row, the NCAA team championship belonged to the Alabama Crimson Tide, and for the second year in a row Geraleen Stack-Eaton made sure that there was individual gold to go with the team trophy.

As a junior, Stack-Eaton closed out her season by winning the NCAA Floor Exercise Championship, the same event that Alabama had finished on to win its fifth national team championship the night before. Her dynamic routine tallied a score of 9.9375, winning the Tide's third floor title since 2004 and fifth overall.

As a senior, Stack-Eaton was once again instrumental in leading Alabama to the national team title, marking the first time the Tide had won back-to-back team championships. And just as she had the year before, the Horsham, Pa., native returned the next day for an individual title, extending the Tide's weekend-long mastery of the balance beam. During team competition, she posted scores of 9.95 and 9.9 on the beam, helping push Alabama to the two highest balance beam team marks at the championships. During event finals, she tallied a 9.9375 on the beam, winning Alabama's 23rd individual NCAA title overall and fifth on the balance beam.

MORGAN DENNIS

2007 NCAA Floor Exercise

Just a freshman, Morgan Dennis had already learned the trick of bringing the crowd to its feet. Her huge tumbling and feet-nailed-to-the-floor landings were enough to excite even veteran gymnastics fans. But a national title, on the floor exercise, as a rookie? That was going to take some doing, especially in 2007 when 18 gymnasts reached the floor exercise final.

But Dennis didn't get rattled. She calmly waited, going 17th in the lineup. And when her turn finally did come around, she made the most of it, electrifying the crowd and scoring a 9.9625, the best of the night to that point. One more routine was to come, so after waiting most of the night to show what she had, she waited a little longer to see if her routine was golden. The last gymnast came close, with a 9.95, but not close enough and the Alabama rookie took home gold.

TERIN HUMPHREY
2005 & 2007 NCAA
Uneven Bars Champion

She wanted it back. As a freshman, Terin Humphrey had gone from Olympic silver to NCAA gold, winning the NCAA Uneven Bars Championship. As a sophomore, she earned All-America honors on the uneven bars, but did not repeat as champion.

Winning title No. 2 wasn't going to be easy. In October Humphrey had double elbow surgery to help ease problems she had worked through for years. She also faced the deepest, most talented uneven bars field in NCAA history, one loaded with Olympians and U.S. champions. Humphrey was not to be denied, though, scoring a 9.95 to win her second title and reaffirm her place as queen of the uneven bars.

Humphrey's first NCAA title came at the end of a long year, one that included the U.S. Olympic Trials, a spot on the Olympic team that included a pair of silver medals at the Athens Olympiad, and a stint on the T.J. Maxx Olympic Tour before joining the Tide in January. At the end of that very long freshman year, she found herself with one more routine to do. Up last, she had her work cut out for her with a 9.925 already on the board. The Olympic silver medalist was undaunted though, taking NCAA gold with a 9.9375.

ASHLEY MILES
2003, 2004 & 2006
NCAA Vault Champion
2004 NCAA Floor
Exercise Champion

Ashley Miles made it look easy. She made it look like flying. Her huge vaults and tumbling passes on the floor exercise made her the must-see gymnast wherever she was, even at the NCAA Championships.

"Wherever we were, when Ashley was on an event, all eyes in the gym were drawn to her," Sarah Patterson said. "It was an amazing phenomenon."

An outsized brand of gymnastics earned Miles four individual NCAA titles, tying Penney Hauschild for most in an Alabama career. She is the first Alabama gymnast to win more than two national apparatus titles during a career.

When she won the 2006 NCAA vault title, Miles became only the second gymnast in NCAA history to win three national vault championships and the first to do so in 20 years. She is one of only six gymnasts in NCAA history to win the same event three times and the first in more than a decade to manage the feat. Her four individual national titles are tied for third all-time in NCAA history.

JEANA RICE
2004 NCAA All-Around
Champion

She'd spent a career being as good as anyone in the nation and at her last NCAA Championships, Jeana Rice proved herself better than anyone else. On the first day of competition at the UCLA-hosted championships, Rice – who had already won two SEC and three NCAA Regional all-around titles in her career – posted a 39.650 to win the NCAA All-Around Championship.

Rice's career had been building to this moment from day one. She won six individual SEC championships and seven NCAA Regional titles over her four years. At the NCAA Championships, she finished in the top six in the all-around competition every year as well as posting five finishes in the top six on individual events.

Rice was rewarded for an outstanding senior year with the Honda Award for Gymnastics, presented annually to the national gymnast of the year.

In addition to all her championship hardware, Rice set a national record as a senior, becoming the first NCAA gymnast to earn five All-America honors in three different seasons. She also set the national record for All-America honors in a career, earning 18 first- and second-team accolades.

ANDRÉE PICKENS
1999 NCAA Balance
Beam Champion
2002 NCAA Uneven Bars
Champion

It is a testament to Andréé Pickens' talent and drive that she managed not only to win two NCAA titles, but win them in the most challenging fashion imaginable.

As a freshman, Pickens competed in every event all three days of the NCAA Championships. On the last day, after leading Alabama to a third-place finish in the thin air of Salt Lake City the day before, she harnessed her strength and boundless energy to win the NCAA Balance Beam title, earning gold on the event that made her nervous all season.

Three years later, after coming back from a ruptured Achilles tendon that ended her junior season, Pickens again competed in 12 events over three days. But the four events on Saturday were simply icing on the cake for the Houston, Texas native who the night before had led the Tide to its fourth NCAA team title.

In the waning moments of a spectacular career, Pickens brought the grit and determination that carried her through injury and rehab to bear on one final routine, winning the NCAA Uneven Bars title. After landing that routine, Pickens gave a tired wave to the crowd, knowing she had given everything she had and it had been more than enough.

KIM KELLY
1996 NCAA Floor
Exercise Champion

In the final performance of her Crimson Tide career, as the music of her floor routine reached its final beat and tears streamed down her face, Kim Kelly's success-studded career turned golden. The King of Prussia, Penn., native won the 1996 NCAA Floor Exercise Championship in front of the home crowd with a perfect 10.0 and an avalanche of applause.

As extraordinary as the ending was, the genesis of her championship floor routine is even more so. In college gymnastics, the norm is to change floor routines only once during a career and a mid-season change was unheard of, until Kim Kelly.

Tide freshman Lisa Gianni's floor routine was set to the strains of the Alabama fight song. When Gianni went down after the second meet of the season with a ruptured Achilles tendon, there was no one to carry the routine into the Tide-hosted nationals, until Kelly undertook the challenge.

It was a move that Tide coach Sarah Patterson says she would not have been able to consider with anyone except Kelly. The move paid off when Kelly completed the postseason triple play, winning the SEC, NCAA Central Regional and NCAA Championships.

STEPHANIE WOODS

1996 NCAA Uneven Bars Champion

Stephanie Woods knew that the uneven bars routine she had just finished had been special – she just wasn't sure if anyone else knew. It was the night of the event finals at the 1996 NCAA Championships and she had just completed her routine.

But the Austin, Texas, native's feeling about her routine carried over to the judges, who knew they had seen something special, something of championship caliber.

In the history of the NCAA Championships, only three competitors have scored better on the uneven bars. There are three 10s scattered over the years. Woods is the first to earn a 9.975.

Woods had been brilliantly consistent all season on the uneven bars. Of her 15 routines, 12 scored 9.9 or better. She collected the 1996 NCAA Central Regional uneven bars and balance beam titles coming into the NCAA Championships. Woods scored back-to-back 9.950s in the NCAA semifinals and Super Six rounds. Her national championship performance was a career best.

MEREDITH WILLARD

1996 NCAA All-Around Champion

She tugged urgently at the sleeve of the nearest meet official, asking him to check and then double check the scores. There had been a mistake, someone else was supposed to be where she was.

No mistake, the scores were right. Meredith Willard, the ultimate team player in a sport filled with individuals, had won the 1996 NCAA All-Around Championship.

Willard's title shouldn't have come as a surprise. She had been, throughout the 1996 season, the nation's most consistent gymnast. Going into the NCAA Championships, she had hit an astounding and perfect 44 of 44 routines. She had also competed in 45 of a possible 48 events going into the championships. She had been very virtually unstoppable.

Willard had not just been consistent, she had been consistently brilliant. She bettered or tied her career best all-around mark six times during the season. And at the NCAA Championships, on the night of the all-around, she was the best of the best, winning with a 39.450 total. Willard's talent and ability led her to Alabama's ninth individual NCAA crown. Her poise and leadership led Alabama to a national team championship the next day.

DANA DOBRANSKY

1992 NCAA Balance Beam Champion
1993 NCAA Balance Beam Champion

On her 1993 beam title: "Ending my career with a 10.0 on balance beam finally represented that I had worked for perfection. It made all of the mental perfection, all of the hard work, all of the falling, and getting up, worth it. It was great to be able to represent The University of Alabama with a perfect 10."

Best memory: "My most lasting memory is the love and support of our fans. That fan support was one of the reasons that I was attracted to Alabama, and when I got there, it was just great. I know that we wouldn't have been as successful as we were, or are, without the love and support of all of our fans. The fans at Alabama are so supporting of everything, and that is the one thing that really stands out in my mind."

GINA BASILE

1991 NCAA Balance Beam Champion

On the 1991 team title: "It was a very rewarding experience for me. It was especially great because it was at home in front of our families and our fans. It's really a feeling that you can't put into words. The best way that I can describe winning the national team title is that it is 11 girls, separated around the country, who are bonded together for life by a ring which represents talent, dedication, friendship and crimson pride."

Best memory: "Really, the thing that stands out in my mind is that there was no real pressure. There was some pressure, but really we just had a good time. Usually the person who wants it the most wins, and we just always pulled together, had a good time, and usually won. That's what I will always remember."

DEE FOSTER

1990 NCAA All-Around Champion

On her title: "There were advantages and disadvantages to winning a national title. The advantages were, of course, the respect and national recognition in a sport that I had dedicated my life to. And the main disadvantage was the pressure to repeat. Thankfully, I had 10 other people there to help me through each of the next three years."

Best memory: "My junior year, during the Homecoming football game, we got our national championship rings down on the field at halftime. My best friend was there to enjoy it with me, and that made it extra special."

PENNEY HAUSCHILD

1985 NCAA All-Around Champion
1985 NCAA Uneven Bars Champion
1986 NCAA All-Around Champion
1986 NCAA Floor Exercise Champion

On her national championships: "It was definitely the pinnacle of my gymnastics career. But I know that nothing could have been done without Sarah, David, my teammates, the trainers, and really the entire athletic department. Although my titles were a great experience, I would have given anything to be able to be with the team in 1988 when they won the team national title."

Best memory: "After my floor exercise at the 1986 Nationals, which was the last event of my career, Sarah was standing right there. She had tears in her eyes, I had tears in my eyes, and we just came together and hugged. That will always be the one moment that will stand out in my mind."

ALABAMA AT THE NCAA REGIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS

The 2016 NCAA Auburn Regional Champions

Alabama has dominated the NCAA Regional Championships for 36 years, finishing first or second every year since the championships inception in 1982.

Alabama came away with another top-two finish in 2017, advancing to its 35th consecutive NCAA Championship, led by an individual floor exercise title from Aja Sims.

The regional is a crucial step to making it to the NCAA Championships. The top 36 teams around the nation advance to six regional sites. The top 18 teams in the nation are seeded into the regions, while teams 19-36 stay in their home region or are placed in the next nearest regional. To advance to the NCAA Championships, a team must finish first or second in one of the six regions.

Alabama gymnasts have won 154 individual regional titles over the past 30 years. Geralen Stack-Eaton was voted the NCAA Central Region Gymnast of the Year in 2012. Kayla Hoffman earned the honor in 2011 while Ashley Miles won it in 2006 and Andréé Pickens earned the same award four years running, from 1999 to 2002 before giving way to Jeana Rice in 2003.

Miles set the Alabama career record for regional titles in 2006 after winning a pair of titles to push her all-time mark to 10. She is also the first Tide gymnast to win the same regional event all four years of her career, sweeping both the vault and floor exercise from 2003 to 2006.

On her way to the Tide regional title record, Miles passed Pickens and Dee Foster, who are tied with nine each. Hoffman, Miles and Foster are tied for the most titles in a single season. Foster won four in 1993, a number Miles matched in 2005 and Hoffman in 2011.

Twice, in 1992 and 1993, David Patterson was named NCAA Central Region Assistant Coach of the Year. In 2000 and 2002, former Crimson Tide gymnast and current Senior Associate Athletics Director Marie Robbins was named NCAA Central Region Administrator of the Year.

The Crimson Tide earned one Southeast Regional title in 1983, before making the jump to the Central Region, and winning 13 there. In 1999, the region structure changed, going to six regions. Alabama won the inaugural Region 6 title in 1999 and the Region 4 title in 2000. For the 2001 season, the names of the regions were changed back to directional designations and Alabama was once again competing out of the Central Region. Starting in 2009, the regional championships were named after the host city, which means Alabama competed in and won the NCAA Auburn Regional Championship in 2015.

The Tide has put together two streaks of 10-or-more regional titles in a row, earning 12 consecutive championships from 2005-16 and 10 championships between 1987-96. Overall, Alabama has won an NCAA-best 31 regional titles.

Ashley Miles won 10 individual NCAA regional titles.

This list includes all of Alabama's NCAA Regional appearances. The Crimson Tide competed in the Southeast region in 1982 and 1983. From 1984 to 1998, the Tide competed in the Central region. In 1999 and 2000, after the NCAA went from five to six regions, Alabama competed out of Region 4. In 2002, Region 4 was renamed the Central region.

ALABAMA AND THE SOUTHEASTERN CONFERENCE

Kayla Hoffman, pictured above with Commissioner Mike Slive, earned almost every accolade the Southeastern Conference has to offer in 2011, including the league's top honor when she was named the SEC Female Athlete of the Year. She was also the first in league history to win SEC Gymnast of the Year and SEC Gymnastics Scholar-Athlete of the Year honors in the same season. Hoffman received an SEC Postgraduate Scholarship and was a finalist for the H. Boyd McWhorter SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year.

If there was any question that the Southeastern Conference is the most dominant gymnastics conference in the nation, it was laid to rest in 2009 when five of the teams that advanced to the NCAA Super Six Team Final were from the SEC, including the top two teams, Georgia and Alabama. In fact, since the first NCAA Championship in 1982, the SEC has had at least one team in the top-10 and since 1983, the conference has placed at least one team in the top-5 and at least two teams in the top-10. Alabama has been the league's top finisher at the NCAA Championships 13 times.

In each of the past 32 years, the conference has placed at least one team in the NCAA top-3 and in 1998 the national top-3 all hailed from the SEC, as Georgia, Florida and Alabama took first, second and third respectively. The SEC put a conference-high five teams in the national top-10 in 1993, 2003, 2008, 2009, 2015 and 2016. An SEC school has stood atop the collegiate gymnastics world as national champions 19 times since 1987, with Alabama winning six titles, including back-to-back in 2011 and 2012.

The SEC has done well on an individual level as well, with a conference athlete taking home the NCAA all-around title 18 times. Alabama athletes have been especially productive in that area, with five Crimson Tide athletes producing six all-around titles (Kim Jacob 2014, Jeana Rice 2004, Meredith Willard 1996, Dee Foster 1990, Penney Hauschild 1985 and 1986). From 1989-98, the conference claimed nine of the 10 all-around crowns, including six straight from 1993-98.

Of the 14 conference schools, eight sponsor gymnastics programs: Alabama, Arkansas, Auburn, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, LSU and Missouri.

ALABAMA IN THE SEC

The Crimson Tide has won nine SEC Championships, the first coming in 1988 and the most recent in 2015, as well as posting 27 top-two finishes. Individually, Alabama has tallied 66 conference crowns, including an incredible 49 titles since 2000. In 2017 Katie Bailey won the SEC uneven bars crown and Kiana Winston took top honors on the balance beam.

Kayla Hoffman was named the 2011 SEC Female Athlete of the Year, an award that spans all sports offered by the league, marking the fifth time an Alabama gymnast has earned that title. Tide gymnasts alone have earned more SEC Female Athlete of the Year honors than all but one other school.

The league's top scholar-athlete has come from the Tide three times, with Kristin Sterner (2003), Meredith Willard (1997) and Julie Estin (1987) earning the H. Boyd McWhorter Postgraduate Scholarship.

The SEC Gymnast of the Year has hailed from Alabama six times, including Hoffman in 2011, while the Freshman Gymnast of the Year has worn Alabama's crimson and white three times. In the classroom, Alabama has earned SEC Academic Honor Roll honors 328 times, including a conference-record 18 in 2016 and 2017.

ALABAMA'S SEC TEAM CHAMPIONSHIPS

2015 SEC CHAMPIONS

In 2015, for the first time in nearly 40 years, the Alabama gymnastics team marched into the Southeastern Conference Championships, held in Duluth, Ga., with a new head coach. By the time the meet was done, Dana Duckworth and her first Crimson Tide team (as head coach that is) had produced a few more firsts.

When the Crimson Tide won the 2015 title with a 197.525, it was Alabama's first back-to-back SEC titles in program history. Duckworth also became the first coach in SEC gymnastics history to win the league championship in her inaugural season as a head coach.

Senior Kaitlyn Clark won her second individual SEC title and first vault championship after scoring a 9.95. Clark, juniors Lauren Beers and Carley Sims, along with sophomore Keely McNeer each earned All-SEC honors in front of a very vocal Crimson Tide crowd inside The Arena at Gwinnett Place.

While the Tide did win its 2012 NCAA Championship in Duluth, Alabama won its first SEC title in five Duluth appearances in 2015.

2014 SEC CHAMPIONS

Surrounded by a vocal pro-Alabama crowd in their own backyard, the Crimson Tide fed off the energy of the Birmingham, Ala. crowd to win its eighth Southeastern Conference Championship, and third in six years, in 2014. Loud throughout the night, Alabama fans erupted when junior Kaitlyn Clark – the Crimson Tide's last competitor – nailed her landing on the uneven bars, scoring a career-best 9.975 to win the event and clinch the title for Alabama. Excited about their performance no matter the outcome, the Tide had to wait until Florida finished its final routines on the floor exercise to know for sure if they'd won the title.

When the Gators finished their last routine, it was evident that the Tide had won and pandemonium ensued both on the floor of the arena, where the Tide celebrated an amazing performance, and in the stands where Alabama's faithful let loose a seemingly endless string of "Roll Tide" cheers.

In addition to Clark on the uneven bars, Milliner won both the vault and floor exercise. Milliner and Clark along with Jacob and freshman Aja Sims earned All-SEC honors. Sims also earned SEC All-Freshman honors along with Katie Bailey and Amanda Jetter. With three rookies earning All-Freshman, Alabama made up nearly half of the seven-member team.

2011 SEC CHAMPIONS

The Crimson Tide started off the 2011 SEC Championships with a solid score on the uneven bars and proceeded to improve every rotation after that, finishing off with the best score of the night by any team on any event, when it scored a 49.5 on the vault. The Tide was on a bye for the last rotation, waiting in its "Bama Bubble" to see if anyone could catch them. In the end, second-place Florida came up a quarter of a point short and the Tide won title No. 7 with a 197.225.

Senior Kayla Hoffman won the vault with a 9.95 while junior Geralen Stack-Eaton won the balance beam and floor exercise with matching scores of 9.925. Hoffman and Stack-Eaton both earned first team All-SEC honors, while sophomores Marissa Gutierrez and Ashley Sledge earned second-team honors. Sarah DeMeo, Kim Jacob and Diandra Milliner all earned Second Team All-SEC and SEC All-Freshman honors.

2009 SEC CHAMPIONS

Alabama rolled to its sixth SEC title with a complete team performance that saw everyone adding to the Crimson Tide's win. After finishing in second place by .025 in 2008, Alabama came back strong in 2009, out-scoring second place Georgia by .375, 197.300-196.925. Junior Morgan Dennis led the way with wins on the vault and floor exercise while junior Ricki Lebegern, sophomore Kayla Hoffman and freshman Ashley Priess all earned second team All-SEC honors. Priess and Geralen Stack-Eaton also earned SEC All-Freshman honors.

2003 SEC CHAMPIONS

It was a battle from the word go. But in the end, the youngest team Alabama had ever put on the floor won the program's fifth SEC team title, upending second-place Georgia 197.575-197.525. Junior Jeana Rice was named SEC Gymnast of the Year after winning three events, including the all-around. Freshman Ashley Miles won the floor exercise with a 9.975 to clinch the Tide's victory. Sophomore Michelle Reeser and freshman Larissa Stewart earned second team All-SEC on the balance beam and uneven bars, respectively.

2000 SEC CHAMPIONS

Sarah Patterson and company couldn't have been much looser coming into the championships. Warm-ups in Florida's O'Connell Center were filled with laughter. Time in the locker room was spent playing games and singing along with music the Tide had brought along. Along with the laughter and the smiles, there was a quiet confidence.

By the time Alabama finished their last vault, they knew they had won the meet over LSU and Georgia, which tied for second, by .375. In addition to winning the all-around, vault and uneven bars, Andree Pickens earned All-SEC honors and was named SEC Gymnast of the Year. Her three SEC titles in one season matched Dee Foster's 1991 effort for best in Tide history.

1995 SEC CHAMPIONS

Alabama was in Gainesville, Fla., for the SEC Championships and going into its last rotation, the vault, Alabama was fourth. The Crimson Tide responded with the highest vault total in NCAA history, counting nothing less than a 9.9. Freshman Merritt Booth and senior Chasity Junkin both posted career-best marks of 9.975. Junior Kim Kelly stuck a perfect 10.0 to finish the series. Now the Tide had to wait and see if their best had been good enough. Even the coaches didn't know until the scores were announced. Auburn was sixth, Kentucky fifth, Florida fourth, Georgia third, at this point a sigh of relief went up from the Crimson Tide contingent – they were at least second. LSU was second, and the Alabama contingent roared with the pleasure of winning by .05.

1990 SEC CHAMPIONS

Alabama started the decade of the 1990s off with a bang. Sarah and David Patterson and company won the 1990 SEC Championship in Athens, Ga. Senior Marie Robbins led the Tide, winning the all-around. It marked a triumphant return from an ankle injury that had cut short her 1989 season. And if Florida was Alabama's main rival in the early to mid 1980s, Georgia stepped into that position in the late 1980s through the next two decades, which made the win in Athens all the sweeter.

1988 SEC CHAMPIONS

At the 1988 SEC Championships, the Crimson Tide faced Georgia, LSU and Florida, all three ranked in the top-10 nationally. All three, along with the Tide, would be in the hunt for the NCAA title come April.

The championships were in Tuscaloosa, where they had been in 1985, the year current Alabama senior captains Alli Beldon and Kathy Bilodeau had been freshmen.

Alabama didn't claim a single individual title but came away with its first conference crown, and an SEC Championship record as well. UA's 190.15 marked only the second time in school history that it had scored in the 190s. The Tide outpointed second-place Georgia by .95.

ALABAMA'S SEC ACADEMIC HONOR ROLL

While it is evident that Alabama gymnastics is one of the nation's best teams in the gym, it is absolutely dominant when it comes to the classroom. The best barometer of such success on a conference level is the SEC Academic Honor Roll, instituted in 1984, and Alabama gymnasts have earned a league-best 328 honors. The Crimson Tide has averaged more than 10 honors a year since 2000, including a program-best 18 in 2016 and 2017. From 1984-2001 the honor roll was open to all gymnasts in the sophomore class or better in academic standing. Starting in 2002, the awards were determined by the academic year (fall and spring semester) or cumulative GPA, making freshmen eligible.

ADDING UP CRIMSON TIDE SUCCESS

1 Alabama has finished No. 1 in the nation six times. The first time came in 1988 and the most recent in 2012. The Crimson Tide is one of only six programs in collegiate gymnastics history to win an NCAA title.

2 Alabama has finished in the top-2 nationally 13 times since first breaking into the top-10 in 1983.

3 Three Crimson Tide gymnasts have been named the H. Boyd McWhorter SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year, an award that spans all sports and all 14 league schools.

4 In the history of the Southeastern Conference, Alabama's Sarah and David Patterson are the only coaches in any sport to win NCAA Championships in four different decades ('80s – 1988; '90s – 1991 and 1996; '00s – 2002; '10s – 2011 and 2012).

5 Five Crimson Tide gymnasts have earned the prestigious NCAA Top 10 Award, which honors the nation's top 10 senior student-athletes regardless of gender or NCAA Division.

5 Five Crimson Tide gymnasts have been named Southeastern Conference Female Athlete of the Year, an award that spans all sports and all schools, including Kayla Hoffman in 2011.

6 Six times an Alabama gymnast has been named the SEC Gymnast of the Year, including Kayla Hoffman in 2011.

8 Alabama has won the Honda Award for Gymnastics, which recognizes the national gymnast of the year, eight times, including Kim Jacob in 2014.

9 Since Dee Foster recorded the Crimson Tide's first 10.0 in 1992, eight different Alabama gymnasts have scored a perfect mark on the vault, including Lauren Beers in 2016.

9 Alabama has won nine Southeastern Conference team titles since its first in 1988, including back-to-back titles in 2014 and 2015.

11 Alabama has sold out Coleman Coliseum to the tune of 15,000-plus fans 11 times since 1997, including the 2014 meet against Arkansas.

17 Dee Foster's 17 first team All-America honors stands as the NCAA career record.

20 Alabama gymnasts have earned 20 NCAA Postgraduate Scholarships over the years, a total that leads the nation by a healthy margin.

23 Since its inception in 1993, Alabama has advanced to the NCAA Super Six Team Finals 23 times, more than any other team in the nation.

27 Individual national titles are hard to come by, but the Crimson Tide has won 27 individual NCAA championships, including Katie Bailey's uneven bars title in 2017 and a total of 15 individual championships over the past decade.

31 The Crimson Tide has won an NCAA-best 31 regional titles, including the 2016 Tuscaloosa Regional Championship.

35 Alabama has gone to 35 consecutive NCAA Championships, the second-longest streak in the championship history.

36 Sarah and David Patterson led the Alabama gymnastics program for 36 years – from 1979-2014 – a span that included unprecedented success in the gym, the classroom and in the lives of their gymnasts.

245 Alabama gymnasts have earned Scholastic All-America honors 245 times since the award's inception in 1991, including a school-record 19 in 2017.

326 Every year Alabama features some of the nation's top gymnasts, which is why, every year, Alabama adds to its Championship All-America count. Since 1982, the Crimson Tide has seen 71 gymnasts rack up 326 honors.

328 Since the award was first given in 1984, Alabama gymnasts have earned SEC Academic Honor Roll recognition 328 times, more than two-dozen better than the next school. That total includes an SEC-record 18 in 2016 and 2017.
